$122 Million Budget Proposed for County

By VIRGIL WILSON

An "austere" $122,362,694 county government spending program for 1971-72 was submitted to the Board of Supervisors Tuesday by County Manager M. D. Tarshes.

Although the total is 5.3 per cent higher than the 1970-71 budget, it represents a decrease of nearly $23 million from the cumulative requests of department heads.

Tarshes, under instructions from the board to cut spending to the bone, said the 5.3 per cent increase is the lowest since 1963-64.

He is recommending a work force of 4,273, actually six fewer positions than presently authorized. If the personnel cuts are carried out, it will be the first time that has happened since World War II.

When he heard the recommended budget figure today, Board Chairman James V. Fitzgerald said:

"I'm not satisfied that we can't do better than that. I am going to make an effort, and I'm sure the board will back me, to cut it down even more."

Tarshes warned that the budget cuts he is proposing may prove to be too severe and that it could result in a substantial increase in the budget for 1972-73.

He also warned that changes in state laws and policies could boost the county budget total beyond the control of the supervisors.

Tarshes was unwilling to hazard a prediction on what the projected $6 million increase in the spending program will do to the county tax rate. He said it is unlikely that the additional requirement can be financed without a boost in the property tax take but added that it cannot be predicted at this time how much of that will be provided by normal increases in assessed property values.

Taking "mandatory, built-in" spending requirements into consideration, Tarshes said, the recommended budget actually represents a decrease from the 1970-71 total. Major examples of such requirements, he explained, are salary raises and the county contribution to employee retirement and social security, amounting to an increase of $3.7 million, and increases in welfare aid, totaling $4.2 million. Those totals alone, the county manager pointed out, come to about $2 million more than the recommended budget increase.

"This is an austere budget as far as the operation of county departments is concerned," Tarshes said.

He pointed out, however, that there is room for further reductions, depending upon policy decisions to be made by the Board of Supervisors. The board has scheduled study sessions for this Thursday and June 10 on two areas of concern — mental health and probation — and may have other such meetings. Public hearings are to be scheduled for the final two weeks of June. The budget must be adopted by July 1.

Potential budget reductions, Tarshes said, include:

- Elimination of the annual $800,000 "environmental contingency" appropriation.
- Keeping the county jail annex near La Honda closed, at a saving of $300,000.
- Deletion of a $990,000 appropriation for buying trees in Pescadero Creek Park and $360,000 for additional land.
- Elimination of a $476,000 item for land acquisition at San Carlos Airport.

Tarshes did not recommend these reductions but merely listed them, along with other possibilities, for the board's consideration.

On the other hand, he said, there may be some areas where the supervisors will want to increase the budget.

Requests not recommended by him, he told the board, include: —$60,000 for a summer youth employment program proposed by the Economic Opportunity Commission.

—$142,406 for a "neighborhood assistance officer" project requested by the East Palo Alto Municipal Council.

—$19,000 to beef up county dog catcher services.

—$5,743 for a program recommended by the Public Health division to control roof rats in the Burlingame-Hillsborough - Millbrae area.

In addition, Tarshes said, the board may decide that the $1.3 million he has included for general contingencies is not enough.

The proposed mental health budget has a substantial effect upon the number of employee positions and the budget itself. Tarshes' recommendation is based on the assumption that the board will stick with the present formula under which the county pays 10 percent of the cost and the remainder is paid out of state and federal (Please See Page 2, Column 5)

Unleashed Dogs Plaguing County

By JOHN CURRY

To those shovel-wielding San Mateo County residents cleaning up canine calling cards on their lawns or those motorists jamming on their brakes to avoid hitting a wandering mutt in the street, loose dogs may or may not be a minor nuisance.

Dog owners, local governments and the courts seem to consider the loose dog of little or no consequence. Many owners will take the trouble to walk their dogs for exercise, but for many others the dog is simply "let out."

Local police receiving calls about bothersome dogs take the usual step — notify the Peninsula Humane Society. No further local followup is made in most cases on prosecution or prevention of future occurrences.

All cities have a procedure by which the city attorney can file a misdemeanor complaint against a dog owner because of his animal's barking, biting or running loose. One can obtain an injunction forcing that owner to get rid of the dog or dogs. Both procedures require court action, which can prove lengthy and which some city attorneys don't consider worth the effort.

Richard Ward, superintendent of the Humane Society's Redwood City shelter, recalled a recent "dog day" of prosecutions in a Santa Clara County court. It was expected that the campaign of citing dog owners into court for leash law violations would bring in some $600 in fines. Dog owners denying that their dogs were loose seemed to win over the judges. For the day, $12 in fines was collected, Ward said.

With that kind of law enforcement and the rapidly increasing dog population in San Mateo County, the pest infestations of former times coming back in the form of another animal aren't so far-fetched to some worriers.

At the present rate of dog reproduction, the canine population could equal that of the human population by the year 2000. It is expected to quadruple by 1984, which could put 300,000 dogs in San Mateo County, or about half the present human population.

Officials responsible for animal control see many problems with unattended dogs. Among them:

They gather into groups and tour neighborhoods, harassing mailmen and children and sometimes inflicting painful bites;

Dogs sleep on quiet streets, providing a traffic hazard. Others chase cars and children on bicycles;

Scavenging dogs get into garbage cans, causing litter and often eating things that make them ill;

Some dogs which are ownerless strays could be carriers of almost any disease, which they can transfer to household pets which then carry it into their homes;

Other dogs, well-kept purebreds in upper-income neighborhoods, often are let out fouling the neighbors' flowerbeds and lawns, chasing their neighbors' pedigreed cats and, if they meet other dogs, sometimes producing undesired mixed-breed offspring.

"We have problems in most of the cities," Ward noted, although he said a few cities are making an effort to do something about loose dogs through legal sanctions.

It seemed to Ward that the cost of bailing one's dog out of confinement at a society shelter in Redwood City, San Mateo or South San Francisco isn't a deterrent to owners. The cities have the ordinances but stiffer penalties are needed to back them up, he said.

"Our fees are too low now. The county impound fee is $4 and a dog license another $4 ($2 (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

Bruno Will Restudy Aid to Center

An appeal by a representative of the League of Women Voters prompted San Bruno council members to review an earlier decision not to give financial aid to the South San Francisco Information and Referral Center.

Council members Monday promised to take another look at the request at a 7:30 p.m. budget study session May 20.

At the last council meeting Mayor Maurice Hamilton had the request for $5,000 filed, saying the city has never supported it in the past and does not have money budgeted for it.

He appeared no more optimistic Monday. "We're trying to cut $200,000 off budget requests now," he said. "We may have to increase the tax rate. If we do, we may be hurting some of the people you are trying to help."

Mrs. Jordan Bloom, 291 Emoron Dr., stressed again that although the center is located in South San Francisco it is a joint operation and service for San Bruno residents as well.

The center is often the first contact for the underprivileged," said Mrs. Bloom. "This is where many learn their rights concerning welfare, medical care and how and where to get a job."

Park Question to Rec Board

The question of where the Capuchino High School Sierra Club can construct a new park in San Bruno has been referred to the city's park and recreation commissioners.

Council members did authorize the group to plant trees only in an area bounded by Madison, Whitman and Princeton, with an entrance on Madison Avenue.

No park facilities, such as tables and fireplaces, were allowed on this site.

The youth wanted to build a park as part of Earth Week, May 9-15, in San Bruno.

Youths Tangle With Council Over Fwy. 380

Youth tangled with the establishment again Monday in another effort to persuade San Bruno council members to rescind the city's freeway extension agreement with the state.

Capuchino students Joan Hinman and Robert Solotar, a student at Engvall School, told of their desire to preserve Crestmoor Canyon as open space.

Miss Hinman submitted petitions carrying 1,400 signatures of persons opposing the extension of route 380, from 280 through the canyon to Pacifica. She said there are still some 2,000 petitions being circulated, including some in Pacifica.

Young Moss said, "I feel no need for another freeway. It's not worth it. We're destroying nature."

Councilman George Corey said he becomes sensitive when the young people and others talk about the negative aspects of cutting through the canyon as though the council members are not aware of what is going on. "We have some concern, too," said Corey.

Mayor Maurice Hamilton told the youth that studies as to the need for the freeway have been made as far back as ten years ago.

"We have the responsibility to have to decide what is best for the city as a whole. We can't cater to special interest groups," said Hamilton.

"We're sitting with a signed freeway agreement and can't do anything unless there is some compelling reason," he said.

Councilman Tony Governale said he had personally talked with each council member and said "no one on the council is really that enthused about that freeway going through the canyon."

S.S.F. Boys Sought in Girl's Death

South San Francisco police have issued a statewide bulletin for two youths wanted for questioning in the apparent strangulation death of the mentally retarded sister of one of the boys.

The body of the girl, Karen Lee Anderson, 17, was found by her mother, Mrs. Carolyn Rhodes, beneath a bed Friday night.

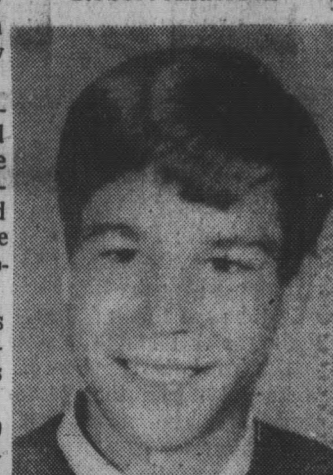

Police said the girl's stepfather, Clark Rhodes, returned home from his job and saw the brother, Robert, 15, and a 14-year-old companion identified as Gerald Clymo inside the home. They have since disappeared.

Mrs. Rhodes found Karen's body an hour later. Investigating police then found suitcases packed with Robert's clothing.

The family home is at 609 Teresa Drive. Karen, who observed her 17th birthday Thursday, attended special classes at El Camino High School.

Summer Work Program in D.C. Off to Good Start

Daly City's Summer Work Program is off to a good start with local businessmen and city officials pledging jobs for youths from low income families.

Information and Referral Center Executive Director Marion H. Goodwin warned a record number of youths need summer work to earn money for the purchase of clothing and school supplies.

Without a summer job many young people will undoubtedly have to drop out of school, Goodwin said.

In a joint statement issued last week, Goodwin and Jefferson Union High School District Work Experience Program director Mike Orlich asked interested persons to attend a "job breakfast" aimed at securing jobs and monetary contributions to support the program scheduled for May 14.

The breakfast will be held at Lyon's Restaurant, corner of Alemany Avenue and Poncet Drive, Daly City, starting at 8 a.m.

Monetary contributions to the youth program are used to supplement salaries.

"We understand that the work year 1970-71 has not been the most prosperous business year," the statement said. "Because of the business lag and subsequent job scarcity, many households have experienced unemployment."

More Flood Insurance Available in South S.F.

Residents of South San Francisco may now purchase additional flood insurance under the Housing and Urban Development's (HUD) National Flood Insurance Program.

The National Flood Insurers Association has designated the Fireman's Fund Insurance Company, where property and casualty agents must obtain forms, rates, etc., as the servicing company for South San Francisco.

Federal Insurance Administrator George K. Bernstein cautioned that coverage under the regular flood insurance program should not be confused with coverage under the emergency program.

Under the regular program, flood protection at actuarial rates are available for the first time for new or substantially improved construction which was started after the emergency program became effective.

for a spayed female) plus a $2 penalty if the licensing deadline has passed. That's only an $8 or $10 penalty," Ward said.

The county government, in the meantime, is contributing money to build new shelter facilities to handle the growing problem of animal control. A large new complex of animal facilities is to be built at Coyote Point in San Mateo soon.

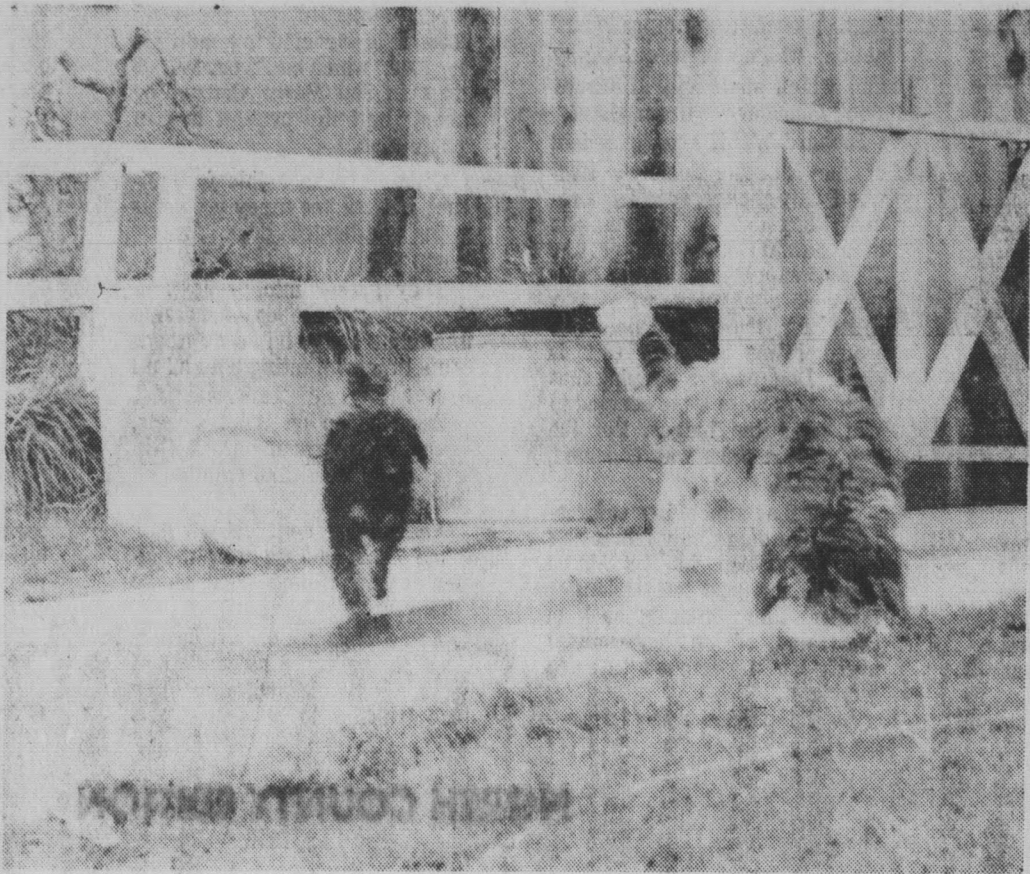

The Humane Society's capacity problem is pictured as merely the tip of the animal control iceberg. Most violations of local leash laws aren't reported, Ward said.

Society animal control officers catch perhaps 25 per cent of dogs involved in reported cases. "The dogs are just too fast," Ward said. Of the reports, five or six a day in the south county alone (San Carlos south) result from dog bites Ward went on.

The Humane Society itself, because of a tight budget, has added no new officers in ten years, Ward said, in spite of the huge increases in population, human and animal. The Society here is badly understaffed as a result, he claimed.

"There are too many dogs in the cities," Ward said. "People just own too many pets and can't control them."

What would do the trick, Ward thinks, would be a strong uniform ordinance, adopted county-wide and equally enforced. Given law with more teeth in it and sufficient manpower to respond to complaints quickly, "we would have no problem," he said.

Key features of a stronger ordinance would be higher fees and citations to the owners for their dogs' misdeeds.

The city of South San Francisco thinks it may have found a workable solution, although its cost, $993.68 a month, may be considered expensive.

For that the city gets the five-day-a-week services of a Humane Society officer to itself, complete with truck and equipment, for animal control work within the city. This plan was started January 1 and now "We're getting far fewer complaints and more and more compliments on our service," Assistant City Administrator Larry Ross says.

The city has contracted with the Humane Society for years, the Society has just one officer to serve all the north county from San Bruno north. "We found that unsatisfactory," Ross said.

Groups in Attempt to Save Trees

Three influential conservation groups joined today in urging the county to save the redwood trees on the valley floor in the Pescadero Creek Park project.

They are the Loma Prieta chapter of the Sierra Club, Committee for Green Foothills (CGF) and Local Initiative For Environment (LIFE).

A decision on purchase of the trees, estimated to cost $1 million, is scheduled for 2 p.m. tomorrow on the meeting agenda of the County Board of Supervisors.

The trees would have been cut if original plans for a dam on the creek had gone through. The Santa Cruz Lumber Company, which sold the land to the county, retained the right to harvest the trees on the assumption that the area would be inundated. When the proposal for the dam failed, however, the county was faced with a decision whether to buy up the company's harvesting rights or develop a park without the trees. Supervisors, faced with a budget crisis this year, have expressed doubt about the wisdom of allocating $1 million of tax funds to the tree purchase under the circumstances. One suggestion being studied is that selective logging be permitted in order to cut the county's costs.

In a joint statement, Lowell Smith of the Sierra Club, George Norton of CGF and Joe Gladstone of LIFE today proposed that the board use the county's $800,000 "environmental protection fund" for the purchase.

funds. To match cut-backs in state allocations, Tarshe is recommending the elimination of 112 positions in the division, 49 of which are filled at the present time. His mental health budget recommendation is for $5.4 million, $1.7 million less than the 1970-71 program.

The recommended county cost of welfare aids is $6.9 million, an increase of $1.3 million. The total could be increased by 25 percent or so, however, if counties are required to pay retroactive cost-of-living grant increases to recipients in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program, and to absorb the entire cost of general assistance to recipients squeezed out of other programs by new eligibility standards.

McCloskey No Challenge to Nixon, Says Klein

Congressman Paul N. McCloskey's threat to enter Republican presidential primaries isn't a serious challenge to President Nixon, the President's director of communications said Friday.

Herbert Klein said of the San Mateo Republican at a news conference, "I think that the issue he is raising, Vietnam, will not be a major issue unless it's a positive one on behalf of the President."

Klein said recent polls indicate a "growing confidence in the President's leadership" in winding down American involvement in Indochina.

He said McCloskey's opposition to Nixon's war policies apparently have not resulted in national prominence for the Californian. "I don't think most Americans are aware of who Congressman McCloskey is at this point," Klein said.

"I can see no special attention to be given to Mr. McCloskey," he replied when asked if McCloskey's activities might provoke administration opposition to his renomination in 1972.

Klein said he believes personally that President Nixon will seek a second term with Vice President Spiro Agnew as his running mate.

He acknowledged that the Nixon administration and Gov. Reagan differ on some welfare issues but "I don't see any barrier between the President and a governor on welfare reform," a goal he said both share.

The former San Diego newspaper editor, who was critical of some news coverage of the South Vietnamese movement in Laos, said he now feels news media "overall are doing a good job" reporting the war.

"The American people are learning more facts about it than at any time," Klein said,

Water Board Member Rebuts Criticism by S.M. Mayor

San Mateo county's representative on the Water Quality Control Board William Weber, Tuesday took issue with critical statements made last weekend by Mayor John Condon over the WQCB plans for waste water treatment in the future.

Condon has been sharply critical of the plan to develop a new regional sewage control panning and taxing agency.

He also says that the price tag for the big sewer pipe in the bay proposed by the Bay Delta plan will be one billion dollars.

He urges San Mateo to state its objections before the board.

Weber also said that Mayor Condon has been misinformed in the matter.

He also said that he agrees with the mayor's concern lest bay sewage treatment proposals lead to regional super government.

Weber said, "I wish the Mayor or had talked to me or he would have known differently. The city manager and city engineer have been in contact with me and have been fully briefed on the Bay Interim Plan.

Weber also refuted the mayor's allegation that the interim plan will "provide some pretty lucrative jobs," and that a "profit motive is behind the effort."

Weber said, "We are faced with the need to satisfy two requirements imposed on us. One is from the federal government. The other is from the state."

"The Federal Government requirement forces every state to develop a basin plan for every water quality basin in the state. We have until July, 1971 to develop an interim plan and until January 1, 1973 to come up with a fully developed plan."

"The State has ordered us under the Porter-Cologne act to examine and plan for full use and recycling of waste water."

"The first misinformation developed over the misunderstanding of the Interim Basin Plan is the WQCB's plan. It is a plan developed by the board's staff to meet state and federal government requirements."

"The staff has already made a number of changes as the result of board suggestions, mine included. There will be more changes as a result of discharger comments. That's why San Mateo's position must be set forth at our hearing."

"It is a fact that our board has gone on record in favor of reclamation of waste water as the final answer . . . and the need for a regional planning agency."

"But, we are not in favor of the master sewer pipe plan as proposed in Phase 2 of the Bay Delta Plan. (Phase 1 concerns upgrading of treatment and exporting waste out of the extreme ends of the south bay.)

"Phase 2 involves the $1.4 billion super sewer pipe collection system."

The WQCB has never endorsed that phase or the ocean transport proposal. On the contrary we have endorsed the reclamation and reuse of waste water as the final answer.

"The confusion comes in on what you do in the interim."

"Mayor Condon is right about the billion-dollar cost, but only if you take it in the context of what it's going to take to bring us to full use of water by the year 2000. It means reclaiming, reusing, recycling, and removing all wastes, one way or another . . . To spend a billion between now and the year 2000 is certainly something we can expect to happen."

"How much we spend immediately is problematical. The $848,000,000 figure is the cost for improvements which is expected for cities and industries."

"Some projects aren't definite yet on that list, so no one really knows what the cost will be."

San Brunan Found Dead

A 46-year-old San Brunan, Raymond Angus McLeod, died Monday by hanging himself in the garage of his home. Police said it apparently was a suicide.

Police said the body was found by a sister, Constance Bogue, at the home, 557 Easton Avenue, at about 5:30 p.m.

According to the report, the sister returned home from work and was putting her car in the garage when she found her brother's body.

A Pacifica Boy Scout was rescued by the Coast Guard after he was injured in a fall in rugged hillside country behind St. Peter's Catholic Church Saturday.

Authorities first feared the Troop 339 Scout had suffered a fractured leg, however a hospital spokesman said he was treated for cuts and bruises and sent home.

Crestmoor Sierra Club Earth Days

The Crestmoor Sierra Club is sponsoring a three-day program of "Earth Days" through May 13 at Crestmoor High School in San Bruno.

The program will be aimed at educating the students in panel discussions and educationally-oriented activities concerning the environment.

Governor Reagan's Environmental Advisor, Norman Livermore, will appear on the State Government Panel along with a representative of Senator Arlen Gregorio (Dem.-San Mateo) and other state officers.

Also appearing will be the Sierra Club's National Vice-President, Dr. Edgar Wayburn, who will discuss his organization's role in the fight to save the environment. Dr. Paul Ehrlich's Administrative Assistant, Rich Harriman, will also be appearing at the school to discuss the world's pressing population problems.

The leaders of the Save San Francisco Bay battle of two years ago, Mrs. Claire Dedrick and Mrs. Janet Adams will be on hand to discuss the local battles that are now being waged. Also discussing local conservation, will be city councilmen and officials of San Bruno on the Civic Issues Panel.

Michael Sharkey, Chairman of the Board of Directors for Earth Day, stated, "The purpose of our Earth Day program is primarily action-oriented. We want to give the students an opportunity to see the alternatives of the conservation issues of today and to make a choice."

"We are also encouraging all parents and other citizens of the area to come up on any of the three days," he said.

S.M. County Disputes State Claim of Welfare Savings

Welfare program changes proposed by Governor Reagan, instead of saving San Mateo County $2.3 million a year as the state claims, would actually cost the county $1.4 million.

That is the result of an analysis of the state proposals by the office of County Manager M. D. Tarshes and Dr. George Pickett, the county's Health and Welfare Director.

The $1.4 million figure represents about nine cents on the county property tax rate.

Tarshes and Dr. Pickett today called for strong legislative guarantees that enactment of the governor's proposals will not result in any additional property tax costs to the counties. Reminded that Reagan has assured the counties that their costs will not be increased but that they will actually realize savings, Tarshes said:

"The governor's comments are very encouraging but, in light of what has happened in other areas, I'd like to see some iron-bound guarantees."

Tarshes said state costs have been shifted to counties in the mental health and business inventory exemption programs despite state assurances that it would not happen.

"It's a fine statement," Dr. Pickett said of the governor's pledge, "but it hasn't worked out."

In a report to the Board of Supervisors, scheduled to be submitted to the board tomorrow, the officials urge a separation of the major parts of the governor's proposal. One part, the report states, concerns administrative changes "whereby the state proposes to assume the entire costs of eligibility determination and grants in the relatively stable adult programs, while at the same time shifting a larger share of the expanding family programs from the state to the county." The other part deals with proposed welfare reforms.

The officials are urging the supervisors to oppose any change in the cost sharing formulas until the results of the reform measures can be evaluated. They note that many of the governor's proposals have been introduced in the Legislature and declare:

"We agree that many reforms are needed in the welfare program. Many of these needed reforms have been included in the present bills. These proposals should be supported. However, in those areas where the impact of the bill will be to increase county property tax requirements or to further weaken the welfare program, we do not think the proposed changes should be supported."

Estimates of the cost to San Mateo County were based on an analysis of the proposals, using the state's own figures, plus a sampling of 4 per cent of the county's welfare caseload, the officials said. Savings to the county were substantiated in some categories.

Auto Kills Pedestrian

A San Bruno bartender was arrested in Burlingame early Sunday morning five minutes after a pedestrian was struck down and killed by a vehicle in San Mateo.

The victim was identified by San Mateo police as John Joseph Allen, 57, of San Francisco. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Chope Community Hospital.

Arrested in connection with the accident was Taylor S. Kjoson, 34, of 3871 Colby Way. He was booked on charges of felony hit-run driving and drunk driving.

Kjoson was held without bail and scheduled to appear in San Mateo Central Municipal District Court this morning. Police said he refused to make any statement.

San Mateo police broadcast a countywide roadblock giving the description of the vehicle, its license number and a description of the suspect which was supplied by a witness or witnesses.

Officers responded to an ambulance dispatch to the accident scene at Twenty-fourth Avenue and El Camino Real at 2:15 a.m. yesterday.

The victim had been removed to the hospital by Peninsula ambulance.

Witnesses said the victim had been walking east on El Camino Real at Twenty-fifth Avenue and was in the crosswalk.

The suspect allegedly was seen driving north on the highway in a Dodge van. The vehicle struck the victim and carried the body about 138 feet north, it was reported.

Witnesses said the driver of the van turned it around, headed south in northbound lanes and drove east on Twenty-fifth Avenue.

Five minutes after the roadblock, Burlingame police stopped Kjoson in the vehicle answering the description. The stop was made at Peninsula Avenue and El Camino Real.

Examination of the vehicle reportedly showed damages to the left side and windshield.

Brief Wildcat Strike By San Bruno Employees

Some 30 San Bruno public works employees staged a wildcat strike Thursday because of the firing of an employee.

Acting City Manager Leo Van Dusen and Phil Murphy, representative of Council 57 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, said they preferred not to talk about the nature of the disagreement.

They issued a joint statement at 5 p.m. Thursday after a two hour session, which was also attended by Mayor Maurice Hamilton, Councilman George Corey and Fire Chief Herb Freitas.

Both Van Dusen and Murphy responded with a "no comment" when asked if the strike was the result of a firing.

Van Dusen said "it involved a personnel matter and it's not fair to embarrass them (the personnel involved) in any way."

Murphy preferred to use the terms "work stoppage over a dispute," and added that the personnel involved will be docked a day's pay.

Final agreement was reached to set up a procedure to prevent any such personnel problems in the future. They didn't say how they would do this. One possibility could be through the use of a mediator.

The walkout occurred at 8 a.m. Thursday. Employees, including those in the street, park and water departments, showed up and refused to work.

Workers said they were locked out. They said they were ready to meet and settle the differences and were told in essence that if they didn't want to work, to get off the premises.

The employees called it a personality conflict.

Apparently on Wednesday morning, an employee and his superior got into an altercation which reportedly resulted in some physical contact. Later that day the employee was fired. Most say personnel problems have been brewing for some time.

That night phone calls went out to fellow employees saying to come to work but be prepared not to work. On Thursday morning a vote was taken (employees say it was unanimous) to walk out.

Fire Chief Freitas was called in as acting assistant city manager to attempt to settle the dispute. Van Dusen was in court on another city matter and most of the council members were unavailable also.

It was the first strike of any type in the city's history.

North County Divided Over BART Cutoff

The State Senate Thursday passed a bill which provides that the three counties which originally voted in the Bay Area Rapid Transit District must have full service before BART can be extended to non-member areas, such as San Mateo County.

The action, which in effect would halt extension of rapid transit here in the near future, last night met with mixed emotions at a meeting of the North County Council of Cities, in San Bruno.

Some cities had earlier expressed opposition to the Bay Area Rapid Transit District's intention of extending their system from Daly City to International Airport. The news had little effect on their thinking concerning BART here.

However, Daly City councilman Frank Pacelli, a director on the San Francisco Airport Board of Control, said the Senate's action may be sounding the death knell for transit in the county "for the time being."

The bill authored by Senator John A. Nejedly (Rep.-Walnut Creek) would curtail all "outside" construction of BART-type rapid transit until completion of the system within the three original BART districts — San Francisco, Contra Costa and Alameda.

Nejedly's bill whipped through the Senate 27-4, with opposition registered by senators Arlen Gregorio, Milton Marks and George Moscone (San Francisco) and James Whetmore (La Habra).

If the bill passes the Assembly it would also stop the $557-

000 partially federally funded study now under way regarding rapid transit on the Peninsula.

Pacelli called the matter "a critical bill for the West Bay" and urged North County cities to contact their representatives in Sacramento.

Senator Gregorio argued against passage of the bill pointing out that BART to the airport was important in order to keep it competitive with the Oakland Airport.

Oakland will be serviced by BART and experts feel air passengers will switch to the east bay facility because of the ease in getting there via rapid transit.

But Nejedly countered that the first obligation of BART is to provide completed services to those cities within the three original districts — not to "outside district" cities.

The future effect of the bill if passed may have a detrimental effect on the continued growth of the airport, Pacelli feels.

With transit, air passenger volume is expected to reach some 30 million annually from its present 24 million capability.

San Bruno May Grant 4 Officers

Tentative budget studies by San Bruno council members have temporarily granted the police department two patrolmen, one sergeant and a community relations officer.

The decision will increase the budget by approximately $10,000, according to Acting City Manager Leo Van Dusen. The community relations officer position will be federally funded.

Council members also tentatively agreed to grant the fire department one additional man, and to increase the number of captains on the force from 5 to 6 by promotion within the department.

The additional fireman was estimated to cost $9,600 and the change from fireman to captain status was estimated at $600.

Fines Levied for Pinball Operations

Fines of $50 each were levied last week against Joseph Sammut Jr., 53, and Joseph Sammut III, 28, both of San Bruno, for illegal pinball operations.

The fines match those given to four other persons arrested May 1, 1970, in a raid by San Bruno police and representatives of the district attorney's office of two establishments.

The Sammutts were arrested on charges of possession and control of pinball machines at Artichoke Joe's, 676 San Mateo Avenue.

Arrested on similar charges, and paying similar fines, were Erick Carlyle, 71, of San Francisco, Helen Price, 52, Ted McHugh, 48, and Edward Segali, 51, all of Millbrae.

N. County Sewer Plan Asked

San Mateo County should develop its own sub-regional program for sewage disposal, the North County Council of Cities was told Thursday.

Robert Bernicchi, district engineer and manager of the North San Mateo County Sanitation District, suggested the county form its own agency before the State steps in and levels a plan that will be hard for cities (in the county) to live with.

There are 26 sewage agencies in San Mateo County, Bernicchi explained.

These cities could be brought together to form an agency for the immediate purpose of conducting a $500,000 study of the entire situation, including a $300,000 oceanographic survey.

Bernicchi heads the San Mateo County Water Quality Control Advisory Committee which was formed following release of the controversial Bay Delta Report.

This report disclosed that Redwood City would be the focal point for sewage from throughout the nine Bay counties before being pumped over the mountains into the Pacific Ocean.

The proposed agency Bernicchi envisions would map a plan for consolidation of local sewage treatment facilities.

It was hoped that a plan arrived at by the county would give cities something we could live with, Bernicchi said.

Assemblyman John Knox has already asked for legislation that would give a nine county, 21 member regional agency full power of implementation if any city disagreed.

"The Knox bill" would have a profound effect on sewage disposal in San Mateo County," Bernicchi pointed out.

Such a proposal for forming a countywide agency was attempted a few years ago and failed, Pacifica mayor Grace McCarthy reminded representatives attending the meeting in San Bruno.

Others voiced concern over powers the local agency would have in administering the plan.

But Bernicchi explained that the longer cities procrastinated in forming such an agency, the closer the possibility of having the state impose its own plan.

He said by 1985 all discharges — regardless of treatment — must be removed from the Bay under existing legislation.

Those plants now being built in the county and others recently completed would not meet future standards.

And by 1973 the standard for disposal of waste into the Bay must be 100-1 dilution.

"It's impossible to bring (100-1 dilution) treatment up to this standard for the Bay," Bernicchi said.

In other words the deadline for proper disposal of treated 1985, but 1973, Bernicchi said.

"You cities that are building new plants are only throwing good money after bad," he said.

Asked about water reclamation, the engineer explained there was simply no market outside of Daly City-Colma for the treated water, especially in the winter.

Daly City has several golf courses and Colma has hundreds of acres devoted to cemeteries. Both could use reclaimed water, it was pointed out.

Both Los Angeles and Orange counties have already established boards for conducting studies, Bernicchi said.

"We have the vehicle to get this under way," Bernicchi said.

Daly City councilman Frank Pacelli, a director of the North San Mateo County Sanitation District, disagreed on several points Bernicchi brought out.

Probe of Airport Garage Parking

An investigation into operation of the San Francisco International Airport central parking garage was ordered on May 4 by San Francisco's Airports Commission.

The parking and transportation consulting firm of Hunnicutt & Neale was hired by the city, to study problems in operation of the parking garage, and to recommend whether the city should operate its own parking service, or re-lease it on a concession basis, when the current concession contract expires October 16.

Duties listed among Hunnicutt & Neale's tasks reflect some of the subjects about which garage users have complained in the past, including parking fees, and security.

Certain garage employees have been arrested recently for allegedly overcharging customers and pocketing the above-fee income. Normal parking fees at the airport are considered to be among the highest in the nation.

Hundreds of visitors have complained, however, that their cars are not safe inside the huge garage. Cars have been stolen from the building, or burglarized inside it, to the point where some people consider parking at the airport to be an unnecessary risk.

Even so, Director of Airports James K. Carr reported to the Commission this winter, airport income from the parking garage exceeded income from other sources.

Youths Held As Suspects

Two Capuchino High School students were arrested in San Mateo on May 4 after a witness told a meter maid he had seen the pair going through an auto in the upper level Downtown San Mateo parking lot. Five other car clouts also were reported that day to San Mateo police.

Charged with petty theft, police said, were Dennis Arnold Frucht, 18, of 220 Pelican Court, Foster City, and Walter Albert Hobbs, 17, of 1390 Marlin, Foster City.

Flight Award to Skyline Students

Students from Skyline College and College of San Mateo won honors recently in the first National Intercollegiate Fly-in and Conference ever held west of the Rockies.

Students of Aeronautics Instructor George Sachse of Skyline College tied with San Jose State College for overall team championship, and won a special "first timer" award for the school which does best in its first competition during the fly-in.

Sponsored by the National Intercollegiate Flying Association, the 23rd annual contest and conference was held at San Jose State College's aeronautics department, at San Jose's Municipal Airport.

First place team championship went to Oklahoma State University, and second place went to Parks College of St. Louis University.

Daniel Bogdan of Skyline College won first place in making power-off precision landings, and Ron Oshima of College of San Mateo won first place in the pre-flight inspection contest.

The Loening trophy, presented by Grover Loening, for the "best collegiate flying club in the nation," went to San Jose State College's flying group.

Battle Over Annexation

A battle royal is shaping up among the cities of Brisbane, Daly City and South San Francisco over which will get what portions of San Bruno Mountain.

Territorial ambitions of the three municipalities overlap to a considerable extent.

Early development plans for San Bruno Mountain were announced last month by officials of the Crocker Land Company, a subsidiary of the Foremost-McKesson Company. M. Sherman Eubanks, Crocker general manager, said at the time that annexation to one or more of the surrounding cities would be given consideration.

Frank Calton, project manager for Crocker, said on Friday that staff-level talks have been going on with representatives of the three cities and the Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO). He acknowledged that annexation to only one of the cities is one possibility being discussed with each of them.

"We are talking with them," Calton said, "just to find out what they are thinking about. Until we know their attitude towards us, we would be making any decisions about annexation in a vacuum." It may be two or three months before we make up our minds."

Calton said Sherman Coffman, executive director of LAFCO, told him the commission would expect that at least the areas of the mountain to be developed on a municipal level would be annexed to a city.

"We accept that," Calton said.

The future of the mountain rests with LAFCO, the county agency that has the first right of veto on all municipal annexations. The commission has been establishing "spheres of influence" to guide annexation deliberations, but that has not been done for San Bruno Mountain. The cities, however, have submitted maps of what they think their spheres should include and hearings before LAFCO are to be scheduled.

Carlton Assn. Leaders Retire

Carlton Corner Association of San Bruno an organization unique in its function to aid young people recently marked a milestone in its history when six members of the Board of Trustees announced their retirement. The six, Mrs. Charles Brose, Mrs. Willard Engvall, Mrs. Ralph Woodman, Mrs. Franklin Wheelless, Mrs. John Coconaugher and Mrs. Guido Cavagna represent nearly 150 years of combined service to youth, mostly through their affiliation with Girl Scouts.

Carlton Corner Association was formed in 1954 for the purpose of holding in trust the building at 290 Carlton Avenue as a meeting place for the youth of San Bruno.

The little white house on the corner of Taylor and Carlton Avenues was built originally to provide a headquarters for Girl Scouts. In 1936 a group of volunteers headed by Mrs. Grace Baker set out to make this possible. A lot was given to them by the city. Money was solicited, the average contribution being about six dollars. Much of the materials and labor were donated. Money for building maintenance was furnished at that time by funds from the Community Chest.

The brass plaque placed on the fireplace when the building was dedicated honors "Cappy" Baker and is dated September 19, 1937.

In 1952 the Girl Scouts joined a Federation, and the National Girl Scouts announced that an area council could not own property. They requested that the house either be deeded to them, or they would have to withdraw their support. The people of San Bruno were unwilling to have the ownership leave the city, and so set about giving the building to the city, with the proviso that it was to be used as a meeting place for all youth groups. A Board of Trustees representing religious, civic, youth leaders and professionals would be responsible for its maintenance and use. Their service would be entirely voluntary.

Carlton Corner Association had functioned continuously since 1954, and the building has always been available, free of charge to any organized youth group with proper adult supervision. Adult groups are now allowed to rent the premises for parties, receptions, or meetings, whenever dates do not conflict with juvenile activities. The fee charge pays for needed repairs and janitorial services.

The retiring members were honored recently at a reception at the Carlton House. Mrs. Wheelless, retiring house manager, has served in that capacity for 13 years. Mrs. Engvall, Mrs. Coconaugher and Mrs. Woodman have been on the board since its organization 19 years ago, and Mrs. Brose and Mrs. Cavagna have served 18 years and 13 years respectively. In recognition of their long years of service the board voted to donate $500 for playground equipment to be installed at City Park where all children may enjoy it.

Present officers of the Board of Trustees of Carlton Association are: President, Mrs. Paul Kilgore; vice-president, Mrs. Fred Beltramo; secretary, Mrs. Clyde Osborne; and treasurer, Mrs. Michael Kaiser. House manager is Mrs. Robert Macomber.

Other members serving at the present time are: Mrs. J. Leech, Mrs. John Nordquist, Mrs. D. Whitten, Mrs. Doris Hinkson, Mrs. Z. McPeak, Mrs. Carl Dahlen, Mrs. J. Fisher, Mrs. H. Cunningham, Mrs. Carl Chaney, Mrs. Lorraine Puente, Mrs. Stanley Rhoads and Mrs. Mac Parks.

Carlton House has a capacity for 150. There is a small kitchen, cloakroom and restroom.

Youths Held for Thefts

Four young men were arrested in Pacifica on Friday after allegedly stealing a number of articles from a Montana residence.

Deputy Sheriff Ray Bouscal said the owner, Mrs. Alice M. Riddell, was shopping in San Francisco at the time of the burglary.

A neighbor told Bouscal that he saw the suspects hauling articles from the house and placing them in their car. He noted the license number and another witness followed the auto and watched it head north on Cabrillo Highway. The description was broadcast.

A few minutes later the suspects were arrested in Pacifica as they were transferring the articles from one car into another.

Both autos were confiscated and an estimated $350 worth of household items, including a TV, tape player, portable radios and some liquor, were recovered.

Booked at county jail in Redwood City on burglary charges: William G. Eftelone, 20, warehouseman, 1375 Adobe Drive, Pacifica; Dennis W. Verna, 20, carpenter, 1376 Adobe Drive, Pacifica; Richard Lannoo, 18, Pacifica; and David C. Wells, 18, unemployed, Petaluma.

Jail Term in Driving Fatality

Robert William Lugg, 28-year-old San Bruno electrician, has been sentenced to six months in county jail, placed on two years probation and ordered to restrain from the use of alcoholic beverages after pleading no-contest to a charge of felony vehicular manslaughter.

Lugg was arrested January 1 after his car allegedly ran into the back of another car on San Bruno Avenue in San Bruno, fatally injuring the other driver, Lee Wright Schmidt, 57, of Pacifica.

According to the report of Probation Officer W. A. Ledwith, Lugg had no criminal record, was cooperative and quite contrite concerning the incident. He noted that the blood alcohol level to the defendant was .21, according to a blood sample taken following the mishap. A reading of .10 is considered by law to be evidence of intoxication.

In his report, Ledwith recommended, and Judge W. Howard Hartley concurred, that Lugg be permitted to serve his jail time in the work-furlough facility.

The probation officer also noted that, ironically, Lugg's father was killed in 1955 by a hit-run driver.

D.C. Lawyer Is Juvenile Referee

Daly City attorney and school board trustee, William J. Schumacher, has been appointed a referee of the Juvenile Department of the San Mateo County Superior Court by Judge Allison Rouse. Schumacher will serve at the pleasure of the court on a part time basis.

A former Deputy District Attorney for San Mateo County and Assistant City Attorney for Daly City, Schumacher will conduct hearings on juvenile matters under the auspices of Judge Rouse's Juvenile Department.

Schumacher's appointment to this judicial position was based on a combination of his qualifications and his proven interest in youth. He is an elected member of the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees, and has been involved in many youth related activities. He is the present District Chairman of the San Mateo County Council of Boy Scouts of America.

Schumacher is presently Department Head of Police Science at the College of San Mateo. Prior to becoming a Deputy District Attorney, he was employed as a police sergeant for the City of Daly City.

$9,000,000 Medical Clinic Underway

The proposed Kaiser Foundation $9 million medical center in South San Francisco is beginning to take shape.

The first phase of the development on El Camino Real, a 10,000 square foot clinic, is expected to be complete by fall. It will accommodate 15 doctors.

A second phase calls for a 99-bed single story general hospital.

Under a master plan, a medical office building will allow transfer of all operations from the Grand Avenue location. A five-story 210 bed hospital also is included in a final construction phase.

Hotel Complex Is Approved

San Bruno planning commissioners have approved rezoning for a proposed hotel-office-shopping development on approximately 80 acres of land north of San Bruno Avenue, from Elm to Junipero Serra.

The project by developer Lewis W. Douglas has a tentative construction period of 13 years, beginning with a shopping center, office building and hotel complex.

Tentatively named "Bayhill," the area will be subdivided into nine sections. Built under the city's planned development zones.

Guilty Plea in Pacifica Sex Slaying

James Garfield Riddle, 19-year-old Army deserter, pleaded guilty to voluntary manslaughter last week in the bizarre sex slaying of a San Francisco man near Devil's Slide in Pacifica about a year ago.

Riddle, of Pacifica, appeared with his attorney, Aram Servarian, to enter his plea before Superior Judge W. Howard Hartley in Redwood City. The plea was made with the concurrence of the district attorney's office.

Riddle originally had been charged with murder in the death of John Richard Norton, a 29-year-old law librarian, whose nearly nude body was found lashed to stakes and three branches on a hilltop last May 17.

According to Sheriff's Detective Sgt. Martin C. Gunderson, who arrested Riddle last fall following a lengthy investigation, the defendant has been listed as an army deserter since last August.

Judge Hartley ordered a pre-sentence report prepared.

and scheduled sentencing for May 25 at 9 a.m.

Mrs. Frank Romero has been elected president; Alan Reynolds, vice president; Thomas Reilly, secretary; Jerry Robbins, treasurer; William Butler, auditor, and Harry Costa, historian.

Girl Scouts Plan Spring Camporee—Hikes, Workshops

Camping skill workshops and three hikes will highlight the Daly City Girl Scout spring Camporee scheduled for May 14-16 at San Mateo Memorial Park, according to Mrs. D. A. Dale, Camporee Chairman.

Troops attending include No. 103 (led by Mrs. Thomas Jackson), No. 333 (Mrs. R. Courpet), No. 758 (Mrs. J. Woelfen), No. 715 (Mrs. L. B. Burn), No. 738 (Mrs. A. Mardokowicz), No. 446 (Mrs. D. O. Young), No. 442 (Mrs. J. Morino), No. 2141 (Mrs. M. J. Cid Jr.), No. 65 (Mrs. J. S. Klatt), No. 173 (Mrs. Jimenez), No. 2817 (Mrs. S. H. Rushon), No. 2855 (Mrs. J. D. McDowell), No. 1854 (Mrs. J. Connolly) and Cadette Aides of Troop No. 716 (Mrs. Dale).

The troops will participate in a standard two-mile hike, another two-mile hike with trail signs and a five-mile hike, as well as workshops in world games, knots, prints, health education and the compass. An all-troop campfire and a Scouts Own are also planned.

Saturday morning's colors ceremony will be presented by Troop No. 2855, evening colors by troop No. 173, the campfire by troop No. 2817, the Scouts Own by Troop No. 715, with all troops participating in the campfire.

FOR THE EIGHTH straight year, South San Francisco's Southwood Junior High School Concert Band, directed by Howard Dudune, earned top honors at the recent Bay Area Band and Orchestra Music Festival sponsored by the California Music Education Association.

"Southwood performed 'Overture in Bb' by Giovanni, 'Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring' by Bach, and 'Trumpets of Splendor' by John Cacavas.

Out of 16 Junior High School Bands and Orchestras entered in this event, only three other schools were awarded Superior ratings for outstanding work.

Southwood was highly recommended by all three judges for excellent control, intonation, and technique.

One judge remarked, "This was a brilliant performance by a group playing the best variety of selections I've listened to all day."

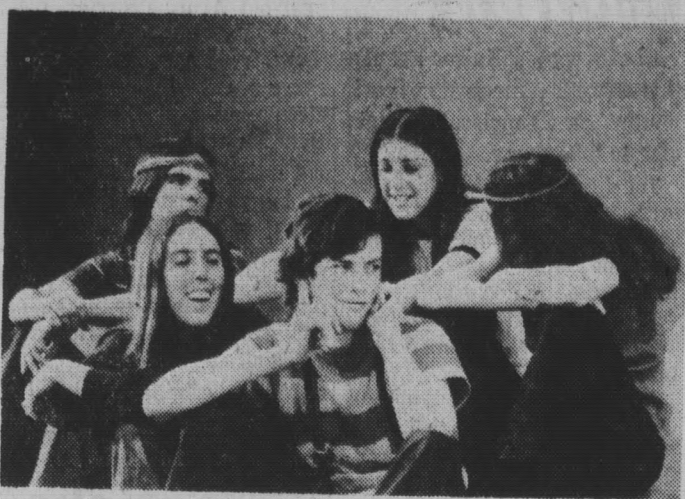

THE SAN MATEO County rabies vaccination clinics, sponsored jointly by the San Mateo County Department of Public Health and Welfare and the Peninsula Veterinary Medical Association, will be held Sunday 1 to 4 p.m., at the Pacifica Fire Station, Milagra and Edgemar, Pacifica, and the North County Health Center, 1024 Mission Road, South San Francisco. Vaccination will be on a voluntary basis. A fee of $2.50 will be charged per vaccination.

The rabies vaccinations are good for two years, so all dogs vaccinated in 1969 will be due for re-vaccination at this year's clinics.

BOY SCOUT TROOP 369 of Daly City took part in the Serra District's annual Camporee on May 1 and 2 at Camp Royanah. Three patrols were awarded ribbons for participation in tests of scouting skills.

Individual Camporee patches were awarded to Ed Adams, Drew Brooks, Mike Burns, Mark Dittmore, Mike Dittmore, Martin Dreiling, Mike Feagin, Tony Fretty, Jim Heryford, Bill Mathers, Phil Manchester, F. J. Pratt, Mike Schumacher, Maxie Santiago and Kirt Stadler.

Free and Accepted Masons, recently held its Fifth annual Knowledge Bowl at 17 Hillcrest Drive, Daly City.

The event is held during Public School Week and pits the knowledge of the girls of Job's Daughters and Rainbow Girls against that of the boys of DeMolay.

Those participating this year were: Job's Daughters — Chris Singer and Kathy Hnilo; Rainbow Girls — Barbara Wilner and Caron Howard; Mission Chapter of DeMolay — John Slopper, Andy Santiago, Dave Emmons, Dave Jaekel.

Each group had won the event twice going into the evening; the boys emerged as victors, making the score 3 to 2.

Past Master Frank Prisco was moderator for the evening; Wendy Baron was official scorekeeper.

George Chrestionson, Master of Crocker Lodge, said the event is held during Public School's Week to foster better relations between the schools, community, and our youth.

The annual event is open to the public and was very well attended this year, he said.

A PICNIC AND tour is planned for Saturday, May 22, by the Daly City Garden Club. We will tour the Beautiful Rhododendrons of the Farwells Nursery, 13040 Skyline Boulevard, Woodside, and picnic in Huddart Park.

The public is invited and anyone planning to attend should contact Tour Chairman Bill Braas at 500 87th Street, Colma.

The Daly City Garden Club is a member of the Bay Ocean District, California Garden Clubs, Inc.

FEW GET OUT OF LIFE everything they desire, yet true contentment lies in the heart.

One who always "gets" is Sir, and one who's bested is his foil Cocky of the "have nots." They meet to play "The Game" and thus begins the play "The Roar of the Greasepaint—The Smell of the Crowd."

Combining the talents of the South San Francisco High School Drama Club, Chorus, and Stage Band this musical will be presented Friday and Saturday in the school auditorium at 8 p.m.

The director is Lyle Crawford and the band is under the direction of Warren Heckman.

The chorus is under the supervision of vocal director Allen Fuller.

Student Director is Lucy Palangian; stage manager, Nick Wester.

The Jeff Scene

By SUE McALLISTER

Jefferson will present its Annual Spring Concert at 8 p.m. May 14 in the gym. Entertainment will be provided by the talented musicians of the sophisticated orchestra, the swinging stage band, and the enthusiastic concert band. The Concert Band will feature such pieces as St. Louis Blues originally played by Glen Miller, selections from Music

Man conducted by student conductor John Serrano, a narrative "Peck Horns Revenge" read by Kathy Hnilo about Bank of America award winner in fine arts, Brenda Bradshaw. And for a treat, the extremely exciting and difficult piece "Jerico". Of course you can expect other pieces and a surprise entrance from the creative mind of music instructor Richard Larsen.

The cost is $1 with the money going to pay for new uniforms. ON JUNE 8 the student body of Jefferson High School will honor the continuing students who have done most for the school this year and the seniors who have contributed over the four years they attended Jeff. This will be the traditional Awards Assembly and it will be held for the "Class of '71" on their last day in school.

THE LATIN - AMERICAN CLUB held its first assembly for the students of Jeff High. The assembly included dances and fashions from countries students represented. Dances originated from the Countries of Mexico (Republic of Monterey, and other parts of Mexico portraying the life and dedicated to the leaders of the Mexican Revolution), El Salvador, and others. In the fashion show the students wore the dress of their respective countries and Mexico, Spain, El Salvador, Guatemala, and Chile were among those represented.

During the assembly a Pinia-ta was broken.

Master of ceremonies Bill Reece explained the assembly bi-lingually.

THE SAME DAY the Latin-American Club sponsored a

Family Forum

Latin-American lunch as part of the celebration that was held May 2-8 for the fifth of May, an important battle in the Mexican Revolution. The Jefferson participation included a soccer game against Skyline.

"YOUTH LEADS THE WAY in Human Relations" was the theme of a 4-day Human Relations Conference attended by 17 Jefferson students of various ethnic groups and grades.

The conference was to help students become aware of the conscious and unconscious prejudices against such groups as the Mexican-American, black American, Japanese-American, Chinese-American, native American, other minorities and the police — and what can be done to change images, laws, textbooks, and misguided opinions for the good of all Americans.

KARYN STUHR (left), Melinda Murray and Denise Phemester, members of the Ta-Lo-We-Ka-Ni-Ka junior high group of Camp Fire Girls, play ceremonial drums they will use to begin 8 p.m., May 14 Grand Council Fire at the Daly City War Memorial Building on Mission Street. The girls in the group, from Ben Franklin and Holy Angels schools, will be recognized for their individual Torch Bearer achievements as well as group Torch Bearer activities in seven areas. Lighting candles at left are (left to right): Ann Surabian, Jocelyn Maches and Cindy De Salvatore. (Starr Photo)

LSSD Music Programs This Week

Over 2000 Laguna Salada School District students will participate in several music programs during the next two weeks.

May is "music month" in the Pacifica elementary school district.

Assistant Supt. Marvin Morganti said the district has abandoned the traditional spring instrument concert.

The district's 40-member string orchestra will perform at Vallemar School May 16. The third annual "spring sing" will be May 22 at Terra Nova High School. Over 300 boys and girls will sing during the evening performance.

Several tonette programs — all fourth grade students receive tonette training this year — are planned as PTA programs, and beginners in the instrumental program are to perform in concert later in the month.

The music teachers involved are Rudy Salvini, Margot Harrison, Maureen Vine, Boyd Johnson and Chris Field.

Breakfast By Catholic Unit

The Westlake Catholic Women will hold their annual installation breakfast at 10 a.m. May 23 at the San Francisco Olympic Club.

Chairman of the event is Mrs. Sal Parise, assisted by Mrs. Frank Corbelli.

Mrs. Vincent Hussey, hostess chairman, announced the following hostesses for the event: Mrs. James Barnett, Mrs. Peter Bistolfi, Mrs. Robert Cashman, Mrs. Paul Lucido, Mrs. Robert Newman, Mrs. Andrew Skirra and Mrs. Anthony Zidich.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Joseph Hayden at 755-2148.

'Western Whing-Ding' in Pacifica

By DONNA STARR

That knee-slapping, toe-tapping, old time "Western Whing-Ding" at Pacifica's Coastside Corral Saturday will be the American Field Service's day-long benefit event and the whole town is invited.

Fast action and fun flinging will start at 11 a.m. with a gymkhana and play-day of 16 equestrian events in the main corral.

The city championship horse-shoe events for both men and women will begin at 3 p.m.

The Box Supper Auction will start at 6 p.m. on the front porch of the Corral Store with home cooking for hungry hoe-downers. Supper entertainment will be provided by folk guitarists, and professional cowboys will saddle up for the team roping and jackpot barrel racing until dark.

"Frosty" Robinson and his Country Melodymen will be tuning up in the big barn to start the dancers swinging at 8 p.m. and continue on till 1 a.m. with intermissions for costume judging, cake baking contest judging and auctioneering.

Tickets for the Barn Dance are available from AFS students at both Oceana and Terra Nova High Schools, AFS President Marian Ballew, Dance Chairman Donna Starr or at the door.

All fees and donations will be to benefit the American Field Service international scholarship program which will send a Pacifica student, Raquel Montenegro of Terra Nova High School, abroad this year.

Admission to the Barn dance will be $2.50 for adults, $1.50 for students.

CAROLYN WAIT, president of the Oceana student unit of the American Field Service, displays fancy box which will contain supper to be auctioned at Western Whing Ding at Pacifica's Coastside Corral, starting at 11 a.m., May 15. (Starr Photo)

Kite Contest in South S.F.

The South San Francisco Recreation and Park Department is sponsoring the second annual Industrial City Kite Contest May 15, wind and weather permitting, between 1 and 3 p.m. at Westborough Park.

Judging is scheduled for 2 p.m.

Bay Area boys, girls, teens and adults may enter.

Awards will go to the most unusual, greatest vertical height and largest and smallest flyable kites, in children and adult divisions.

No prior registration is required.

Student Art

Children's art is featured at Periwinkle Art Gallery, 303 San Pedro, Pacific.

The students' work is from Alma Heights Academy in Linda Mar, a private K-B school. Victor Bridziski has been teaching art to all classes once a week since school started in September.

In preparing for the show at the Periwinkle, Bridziski asked the children to use the technique each enjoyed most. The result is a colorful and varied show.

A Brief Respite

The women who have been canvassing the Millbrae area for merchandise for the KQED auction had a brief respite from their activities a week ago Friday when they gathered at Mrs. Peter Schrager's Hillsborough home. Mrs. Schrager is chairman of volunteers for the Millbrae area. Her workers have collected such items as a screen donated by Bing Crosby for the auction which will be televised from May 21 to 30.

LAST WEEK Cal-Shops Spring Furniture Sale

...Give Your Home That Custom-Tailored Look!

Here is another great value in long lastingness that is now marked down for our spring Furniture Sale. You will be able to take advantage of every inch of usable wall space with this fine collection by Cal-Shops. Build up a whole wall, switch it around to different rooms to suit your needs, add more pieces later, if you wish! The warmth and charm of the American Traditional design with its hand-rubbed finish on fine, selected solid birchwood gives you a built-in look, but without the big cost or lack of movability of built-ins. The tops of all the floor pieces are protected with genuine formica in beautiful matched wood grain that resists marks, scratches, burns and stains. Cleans with a damp cloth. The drawers are center-guided for ease of operation — never a tug or jerk when you open them. The dust proofed drawers are all wide and deep. You'll have abundance of storage space. Good taste like this is easy to live with. Always admired. This is the last week of this great Spring event. Do come in and see these great values yourself.

Frivolous Season Approaches

As spring wears on and all of us begin to wear down and dream, fond dreams of escape, vacations and summer camp for off-spring, the tenor of activities becomes more frivolous.

Festivals and balls replace lectures, retreats and educational films as all the volunteers breathe a sigh of relief that the most arduous chores are behind them and September will find new faces at board meetings and relaxed shoulders upon which to rest the worries and duties of each group! Lighthearted fun seems in order and everyone responds gratefully to the call to play.

Just a few days ago the response to the Our Lady of Mercy Spring festival was proof that most people really enjoy good, old fashioned family fun. Hundreds of families came as groups or individually to snack, dine, shop or play proving that old and young still are capable of getting together on lots of things.

This coming week end the members of the Holy Angels Parish will do much the same sort of thing as the Seventh Annual Sisters' Festival goes full tilt in the parish school play yard and in the parish hall.

According to Mrs. John Lagomarsino, publicity chairman for the guild, the day's event will begin at 11 a.m. with a demonstration of dancing by the children of the school in the play yard. Following the music and dancing the public, as well as parish members will be invited to join in the festivities planned for the parish hall where chairman Joseph Gumina and his committee will have set up a carnival style festival with games and good food available.

Money raised by the festival will be used to benefit the parish school.

In other news from the Holy Angels Parish, Mrs. Lagomarsino, reminds everyone that Friday will be the deadline for reservations to the Outgoing Presidents dinner to be held on May 19.

Mrs. Gerald Delfino will be the guest of honor at a banquet to be staged, as dictated by tradition, at a restaurant the name and location of which are kept secret until the final moments prior to the dinner.

In addition to Mrs. Delfino, guests of honor will include all the outgoing officers and special honors will be given the incoming president and her executive board.

For more information about the dinner and or to make reservations call Mrs. John Provenza, 756-3144, as soon as possible, Mrs. Lagomarsino urged.

Do you have tickets for Saturday's circus that aren't going to be used?

Mrs. Louise Enberg of the Friends Outside has issued an appeal for such unwanted tickets in the hope that a sufficient number will come into the F.O. office to be able to take all the children connected with the group to the circus.

According to Mrs. Enberg, "Tickets are already coming in from friends who remember what it meant for the children to see a circus last year. We are so grateful... should you know of anyone or if you have tickets you will not be using, please remember our F. O. children."

Mrs. Enberg also was pleased with the growing interest in the Friends Outside program.

"After working for the past two years on the grass roots organization and program of the San Francisco Provisional Chapter, we are now finding ready response to our invitations for agency and community people to serve on our board of directors," she said.

If you are interested in helping the families of men and women currently in prison or in assisting with the rehabilitation of men and women newly released or if you would like to donate circus tickets to the children of families in distress call Mrs. Enberg at the Friends Outside office, 564-8833.

The senior forum of San Mateo County will meet on Saturday in the Pacific Manor school with a liberal sprinkling of Pacifica's Fifty Plus members on the list of active participants.

The Fifty Plus group has been designed as the host club for this Senior Citizens Month meeting and Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan, president of that group, will deliver the welcoming address to the delegates.

Marall Smith will lead the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag and Fifty Plus chaplain the Rev. Mr. Herschel D. Harkins will give the invocation.

Following the luncheon break Grace McCarthy, mayor of Pacifica, will greet the delegates and read the official proclamation of Senior Citizens month. The nominations for the counties outstanding senior citizens will be given shortly thereafter with Ressa Wolf and Clifford Scanlon elected to represent the Pacifica club.

A musical program, featuring Rung E. Hasselgren, will conclude the day's activities.

Mrs. Calhan urged all senior citizens to plan to be on hand at 9:30 a.m. Saturday for this exciting and interesting event. Pie and coffee will be served at noon but guests are requested to bring bag luncheon, Mrs. Calhan said.

No reservations are required.

The Pacifica Jaycees have launched their annual membership drive.

The members are eyeing the U.S. Jaycee "Gold Chip" award. To receive this award a Jaycee local must win the Blue Chip Award for five straight years according to Ken Addleman, unit president.

This is the fifth, or Gold Chip year for the Pacifica Jaycees. They are intent on being the sixth chapter in the California Jaycees, and one of a handful in the United States Jaycees to win this high honor.

The Chapter must meet the "Basic Ten" requirements, a set of stringent goals outlined by the National Organization. Among these are specific requirements that measure participation, enthusiasm, structure and expansion of the local.

Addleman says the last one, expansion, is the toughest. It means increasing the total membership by 25 per cent the first Blue Chip year and then by 10 per cent each following year. The one thing, according to their president, that works against them is the Jaycee age limit — 21 to 36. The group must continually make for this loss, plus many others — people move, etc. and, at the same time increase their membership at the 10 per cent rate.

The Pacifica Jaycees have four Blue Chip years behind them and a need for 35 new members ahead of them. They have very successfully met all their "Basic Ten" requirements, except membership increase. If they are unable to recruit these new members by May 28 they will miss the big Gold Chip Award.

Each Jaycee member will be actively recruiting Pacificans to join their chapter, before the May 28 deadline.

John Plato, Jaycee State Director, is the acting chair-

Plagmann, Hillsborough, second vice president; Donald Whittlesey, Redwood City, secretary; Reginald Carlan, San Carlos, recording secretary; Hanford Quock, San Mateo, treasurer; and Philip Newman, San Mateo, treasurer.

Chapter to Mark Founders Day

Beta Sigma Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha will commemorate Founders Day on May 16 at a brunch at the home of Esther Hall.

The group has raised funds for Aid to the Visually Handicapped with a rummage sale in San Bruno and a fashion show and luncheon in San Francisco. The money will be presented in June at the AVH headquarters in San Francisco.

Mrs. Richard Torres will conduct her last meeting for Our Lady of Perpetual Help Mothers Club on Thursday at 8 p.m. in the school hall, 80 Wellington Avenue, Daly City.

Installation of officers will be held. Incoming president is Mrs. John Flaherty.

Others being installed are Mrs. John Klatt, vice-president; Mrs. Fernando Pacheco, recording secretary; Mrs. Paul Martin, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Alfonso Morales, treasurer; Mrs. William Murray, financial secretary, and Mrs. Anthony Guillo-ry, auditor.

Installing officer for the candlelight ceremony will be Mrs. John Candau, and Mrs. Robert Battaglia will be the worthy marshal.

Members of the board are Mrs. George Valente, Mrs. Oscar Arnold, Mrs. Christopher Brown, Mrs. Dennis Patackas and Mrs. Richard Torres.

Class in First Aid

The South San Francisco Recreation and Park Department is offering a class in first aid training for anyone 14 years old or older on Tuesdays and Thursdays starting May 13.

NELL NORTON

Sugar 'n Spice

Good morning, good cooks.

Last week we had a call at the office from a good cook looking for a recipe using corn meal in baking. After much searching I found the following recipe for cookies. We found them delicious and I recommend them to you.

CORN MEAL COOKIES

- 1 cup shortening
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup chopped dried apricots
- one teaspoon almond extract
- 3 cups, less three tablespoons, all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup yellow corn meal

Cream the cup shortening, add the cup and half sugar cream again. Stir in the two eggs and one teaspoon almond extract and beat well.

Measure out the three cups flour and take out three tablespoons. (The reason for this is the recipe calls for 3 cups of cake flour and this is the method for substituting all-purpose flour for cake flour.) Dredge the cup chopped dried apricots in one-half cup flour and add to creamed mixture.

Sift the one teaspoon baking powder, half teaspoon salt and one cup yellow corn meal with the remaining flour and add to creamed mixture, mixing thoroughly.

Drop by heaping teaspoonfuls onto a greased cookie sheet and flatten with fork. Sprinkle a bit of sugar on top.

Bake in 400-degree oven 10 to 12 minutes. Makes about 6 dozen cookies.

There are many ways to find new recipes. One of the nicest is to be served a delicious dish and have the hostess kindly share her secret with you. This is what happened at a dinner we attended recently. These short ribs were so tender and tasty they were irresistible.

SWEET AND SOUR SHORT RIBS.

- 3 pounds short ribs
- Salt, pepper, flour, shortening
- 1 cup sliced onions
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 1/2 cups hot water
- 1 bay leaf
- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 3 tablespoons brown sugar
- One-third cup catsup

Cut the three pounds short ribs into individual servings. Remove excess fat. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and dredge in flour. Brown well on all sides in hot shortening.

Place browned ribs in Dutch Oven. Cook the cup sliced onions and minced garlic in hot shortening until onions are tender, add to ribs.

Combine the one and one-half cups hot water, one bay leaf, one-fourth cup vinegar, three tablespoons brown sugar and one-third cup catsup, plus 1/2 teaspoon salt and pour over meat. Cover tightly and cook 2 1/2 to 3 hours.

Remove ribs to serving platter and keep warm. Pour off most the fat from drippings and stir in 2 tablespoons flour and enough water to dilute to strength desired. Cook until thickened.

Serve hot ribs and gravy on hot buttered noodles. Serves 6.

This last recipe is so easy and tastes and looks so good that you can use it again and again.

MARMALADE BISCUITS

- 1 can refrigerated buttermilk biscuits
- sugar cubes
- Orange marmalade

Arrange the biscuits in a pan, press a sugar cube in the center of each and spoon some marmalade on top. Bake according to directions. Serve hot.

Membership Campaign

B'nai B'rith Women, the world's oldest and largest Jewish Service organization is holding an area-wide National membership campaign.

The theme of this Central California Council drive is "B'nai B'rith Women — On Target."

Prospective members will be contacted by a series of personal invitations and phone calls by members of B'nai B'rith Women.

B'nai B'rith Women, with over 950 Chapters in the United States, is a philanthropic organization and supports many community projects.

Mrs. Phillip Silberman of San Lorenzo is overall campaign chairman.

Journalism Students Visit Historic London Park

The English journalism class of Southwood Junior High School visited the Jack London State Historic Park in Glen Ellen.

Students arrived at the park and hiked a mile to visit Jack London's grave and the ruins of the Wolf House, which was to be Mr. and Mrs. London's home on the 40 acre ranch.

They learned that the Wolf

House was to contain 26 rooms and nine fireplaces. London also had a fireproof vault built to house his manuscripts. However, the night before the Londons were to move into their home, the Wolf House caught fire and burned from an unknown cause.

William J. Maher, class instructor, and the students then walked the mile back to the museum, which was first a house built by Mrs. London in her husband's memory. At the museum, the class heard a short talk by the park guide. The students learned the author traveled around the world and visited Russia, the South Sea Islands, and the Orient to gather material for his books.

Mothers' Dinner Scheduled by Church Women

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the United Methodist Church of San Bruno will honor mothers at a roast beef dinner Wednesday at 6 p.m. in the church social hall.

The youth of the church will present the evening's program.

Mrs. Jack Shingawa is supervising the decorations.

The WSCS will stage a Ladies' League Luncheon on June 5. That event is open to the public.

Chamber Speech Topic Revealed

Jack Flynn of the San Mateo County Development Association will speak on "Community Preparedness for Economic and Industrial Development" at the Thursday noon meeting of the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce.

Flynn is a former manager of the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

Three directors are to be elected by the chamber at the meeting. The four nominees are Virginia Jaeger, Bill Logan, Dick Smith and C.A. Trifletti.

Bike Auction

Miscellaneous girls' and boys' bikes, will be auctioned by the Daly City Police Department at 10 a.m. May 21, at the department's parking lot at Sullivan Avenue and 91st Street. All property will be sold for spot cash only, and as is, with out warranty, according to Police Chief R. A. Petrocchi.

OUTSTANDING STUDENTS — Receiving cash awards as finalists in Bank of America's Achievement Awards program are George Segall (center), son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Segall, 64 Westpark Drive, Daly City, winner of $250 in the field of science and mathematics, and Robert Wagner, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Wagner, 78 Northgate Avenue, Daly City, a $250 winner in the field of fine arts. Both are students at Serramonte High School. Presenting the awards at a May 5 banquet in San Francisco is Al Gilman, Bank of America regional vice president.

Armed Forces Week at Serramonte Center

Armed Forces Week exhibits will be displayed May 14-16 at the Serramonte Shopping Center in Daly City.

The Air Force will have a modular panel depicting recent scientific research into air and space developments. The Marine units will set up a booth with a movie projector illustrating their own aviation activities as well as mannequins modeling men's and women's dress blues.

The Coast Guard will present a mobile boarding team exhibit showing their function as a military organization, how they inspect boats as to their life saving equipment and the responsibility of the Coast Guard in issuing citations where serious lapses are detected.

The Navy exhibit will consist of a 24 foot long, 10 foot high model of the nuclear-powered cruiser USS Long Beach. The Long Beach is the world's first nuclear powered cruiser and is berthed at Mare Island Naval Shipyard, Vallejo. In addition, the Navy department will display a visual representation of all the uniforms used by this branch of the service throughout its history. Also, on exhibit will be those medals awarded by the Navy since its inception.

Flower Friends Install Officers

Pacifica Flower Friends Garden Club recently elected its new officers for the year.

Joan Grover, a charter member, conducted the installation ceremony.

Carolyn Dawson is the president for a second term. Lois Talbot is 1st vice president; (Elena Bacchi, 2nd vice president; Gladys Grims, recording secretary; Edith Doyle, corresponding secretary; Peggy Harriman, treasurer.

Those interested in gardening are invited to attend the club's meeting May 25 at the Moose Lodge Hall on Reina Del Mar Avenue, at 8 p.m.

South S.F. Parish Fete

The annual parish festival at St. Veronica's Church, South San Francisco, will begin Friday, May 14, and continue through Sunday, May 16.

Theme of this year's fete is "Hawaiian Fun Festival." A dinner will be served from 3 to 8 p.m. Sunday.

Ex-Undercover Officer to Talk on Coast

David E. Gumaer, a former undercover agent for the Chicago police, will address a public audience at 8 p.m. today at Sanchez School in Linda Mar, in Pacifica.

He will speak on the subject "Revolution on Campus."

His appearance is sponsored by the Coastside TACT Committee, an ad-hoc organization of the John Birch Society.

Gumaer infiltrated the so-called "new Left" movement in 1968 by joining the Communist WEB Du Bois club and the SDS (Students for a Democratic Society). He was accepted by them and worked his way into high level national staff meetings. His report contains his personal behind the scenes observations of the Du Bois clubs, the SDS, the Black Power movement and of Jerry Rubin's "Yippies" group.

Students Win Awards

Twelve Peninsula high school students were among the 30 Bay Area students who won a total of $13,500 last week in the Bank of America Achievement Awards Competition.

More than 600 attended the awards banquet at the Hilton Hotel in San Francisco which honored the students for outstanding academic and extracurricular activities.

First place winners received $1,000; second place, $750, third place, $500 and runners-up, $250.

Stephen Hubbert of Millbrae, a student at Capuchino High School and David Dummit of San Mateo, a student at San Mateo High School won second place awards.

Third place winners included Yuk Lee of San Mateo High School, Carter Brandon of Woodside High School and Kathleen Cunningham of the Convent of Sacred Heart in Menlo Park.

Among the runnersup were Jean Whitaker of San Carlos High School, Christine Callan of Hillsdale High School, Robert Wagner of Serramonte High School, Craig Pacini of Sequoia High School, George Segall of Serramonte High School, Anne Bachman of Mills High School and Robin Fross of South San Francisco High School.

Gymkana riding and roping events, box supper auctions, live western and folk-rock music, visiting foreign students, and a real old-fashioned barn dance in a genuine, honest to goodness barn will be only a few of the attractions scheduled for the American Field Service's "Western Whingding" that will be held this Saturday at the Coastside Corral in Linda Mar.

The festivities are part of Pacifica's "AF week" and will benefit Pacifica's chapter of the American Field Service, an international scholarship-student exchange organization. The purpose of the whingding is to raise money to send a Pacifica student abroad this summer on the AFS summer exchange program. A Terra Nova junior has already been accepted as an AFS exchange student for this summer. This will be the first Pacifica student ever to be sent abroad on this program.

Foreign AFS students stationed in the Bay Area will also be visiting Pacifica during this weekend. They will arrive Friday morning, attend classes at Terra Nova in the daytime, and then stay on to attend the AFS western whingding activities.

Marianne Iseli of Switzerland, Mine Yazicigly of Turkey, John Asante of Ghana, and Sebastian de Paula of Brazil are the students who will be Pacifica's weekend guests. For John and Sebastian, it will be their second visit to Pacifica. They were here last February for the AFS exchange week.

The whingding activities will begin at 11 a.m. with a rodeo that will feature professional gymkhana riding and roping events.

Horseshoe pitching competitions will be taking place throughout the afternoon for 25 cents a pitch, with three ribbons going to the top horseshoe pitching champions.

Beginning at 6 p.m., an old-fashioned box supper auction will take place. People will be able to bid on decorated box suppers, each containing delicious home cooking!

Terra Nova's own Chef John, Foods Editor for Tiger Tales, will be one of the three judges in a cake baking contest. The public is invited to enter their cakes in three categories: light cakes, dark cakes, miscellaneous.

First, second, and third place ribbons will be awarded in each category, and first place winners receive a grand prize. After the judging, the winning cakes will be sold by the slice.

There will be a special guest appearance of a folk singer who will perform between 6-8 p.m.

At 8 p.m. the barn dance will begin, and square dances will be called to the music of Frosty Robinson and the Country Melody Men. The dance will last until 1 a.m., with an intermission in which recording artist Bob Brien will perform his folk-rock

Up in the Boonies

Although suburban living offers advantages that would be hard to live without, I greatly enjoy getting up into the back country and participating in an entirely different way of life.

The people, their life style and their food have a charm all their own — that would be boring year-round, but is incredibly refreshing for brief periods.

I had been working last week near Weaverville, a small mountain town in the Trinity Mountains east of Redding. After several days of dining on canned food, fresh fruit and beer (too busy for gourmet cooking) I was hungry, really hungry for a big meal.

I drove up to a roadside cafe, sat down next to a couple of loggers, and looked over the menu. The owners were a couple about my age and they were engaged in an animated discussion with the loggers. The topic, logically, was bass fishing.

While listening to the conversation with some interest, my eyes fixed on the pork chop dinner — and my craving was insatiable. I ordered up and what followed was a surprise.

Right before me the owner pulled out a box of powdered potatoes and mixed them with water. He also whipped up a single portion of salad dressing and threw two giant pork chops onto the grill.

Simple. Plain. Uninspired. And absolutely one of the most delicious meals I ever ate in my life.

Plus their family Saint Bernard begged for the bones and got them. That doesn't happen around here where the health department might get wind of it.

A couple of mornings later I stopped in for breakfast at Babe's Beanery. The place was full, and everybody knew everybody else by first name. The food was simple, but extraordinarily good. The thin mountain air didn't hurt the appetite, either.

I'm sure my own pure hunger probably made the fare seem better than it actually was — but there's a point here that those townsfolk probably aren't even aware of.

The restaurateurs have to be friendly. The food has to be good. Their business must come from the same few hundred or few thousand customers. They cannot survive like the gleaming, streamlined chain restaurants that line our freeways and serve the transients. If a waitress is neglectful or a cook indifferent, chances are they'll never see that customer again anyway.

But just try to serve up some swill to your down-the-block neighbor, or the guy that sells you shoes, and see how long you stay in business.

The small town is dying — but it has some attributes that should be retained. And that's the truth.

Recipe time:

SWEET AND SOUR CHICKEN

- 2 Cups raw chicken, cut in cubes
- 1 Cup vinegar
- 1 Cup water
- Three-fourths Teaspoon salt
- Pepper to taste
- 2 Tablespoons cornstarch
- 3 Tablespoons ketchup
- 3 Large green peppers
- 2 Cups drained, canned pineapple cubes
- 1 Cup sugar
- 2 Large tomatoes
- 2 Tablespoons oil

Cut green pepper diagonally into eight pieces. Cut tomatoes into eight wedges. Set aside. Make batter for children.

BATTER

- 2 Eggs
- Three-fourths Cup flour
- ½ Teaspoon salt
- 2 Tablespoons water

Mix well and dip chicken into batter. Fry in hot oil. Set aside. Place all ingredients except chicken and tomatoes into a pot and mix well. Bring to a boil. Add chicken and tomatoes, mix well, and cook three minutes. Serves four.

Beauty and Money Coming Together

The Hippie sub-culture dropped out of big business. New businesses were suddenly springing up in fashion, design, textile, crafts, music and services. Between creating new products and new markets, retail outlets boomed and prospered. By process of a slow and ultimate integration, youth and business found they needed each other.

A lot of beauty has been spread around (and big money from fads, new inventions and the Mod generation) to where industry and big business are working with artists in peaceful, mutually advantageous brotherhood.

It will all come together in the first "Arts and Industry" show at Brooks Hall, S.F. Civic Center for ten days beginning Thursday. Bill Graham may be throwing in the gloves at Fillmore West but 65 rock, country and folk groups are expected to participate. That's 30 more than performed at Woodstock.

Mastermind behind this show of love are a bushy faced North Beach promoter, Buddha and a suit and tie real estate developer from Clear Lake, Will Wilkinson. They appear as unlikely business partners but make a strong point for their beliefs that the two forces in today's society are compatible.

Their On Cue Productions will feature 200 booths in the large hall displaying everything from environmental sculpture panned by closed circuit television so that the individual feels in intimate contact with it, to opera design, drum manufacturers with a synthesizing drum, innovations in the field of music equipment and film industry and acoustical guitars molded to fit your body.

Fabrics, designs, fashions, a children's theater entitled "Just Kids" comprised of all seven-year-old performers from Marin who write their own scripts, make sets and costumes, will be shown. The Xoregos Dance Company will perform May 20, 22 and 23 and there will be continuous music from the stage.

While it is primarily a trade show, some items will be on sale.

Buddha has been putting people together since 1960 when he staged the first outdoor rock show at Muir Beach, featuring two then unknowns: Jefferson Airplane and the Quicksilver Messenger Service.

"They've been invited but I don't know if they'll show. If they don't remember where and how they started, something is wrong. Now it's all Porsche cars and people last. The personal thing has been lost," he remarked sadly.

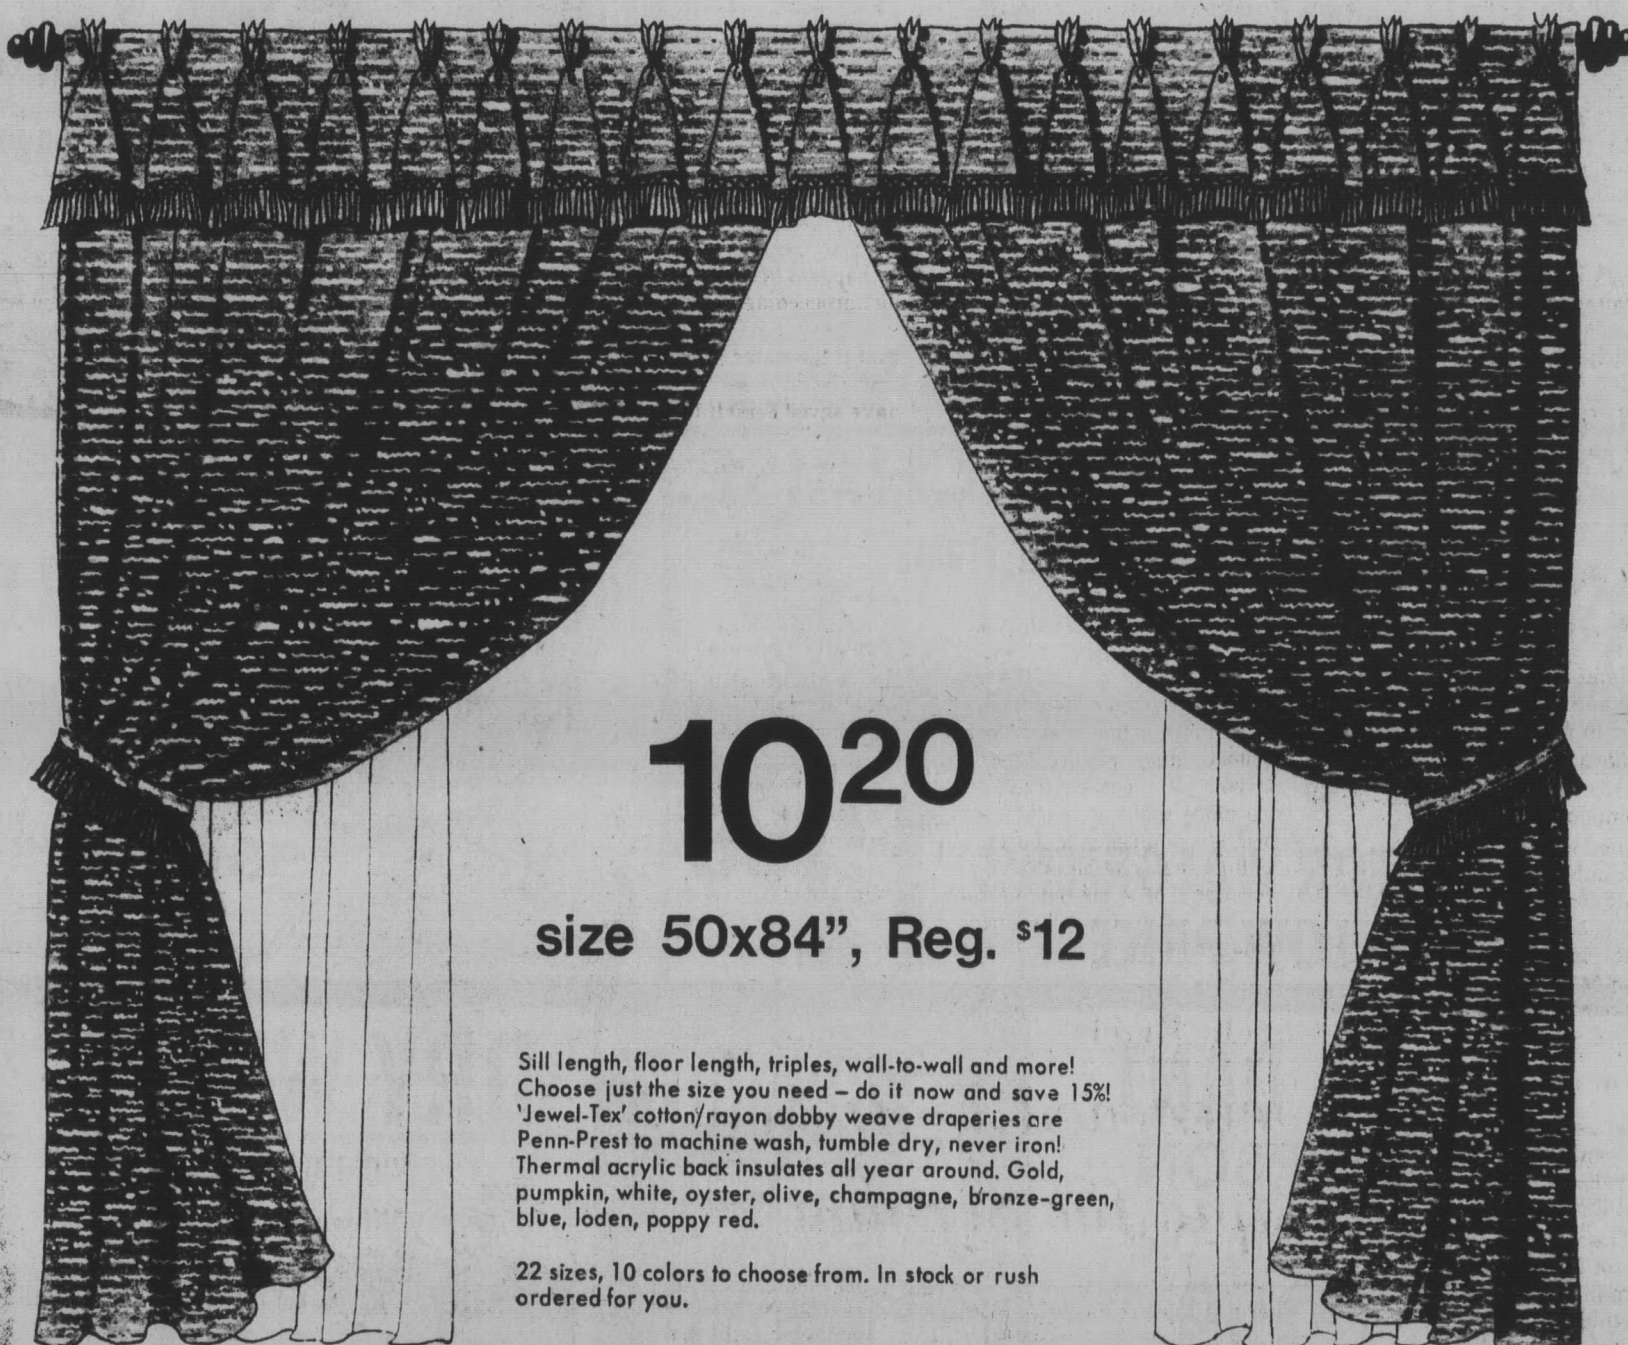

The entrepreneur didn't have to talk contracts with agents and bookers. The underground network spreads the word faster. He formerly was a KMPX disc jockey who people trusted and knew they wouldn't get burned.

"I resent long hairs being associated with violence and dope and wanted their artistry and creativity shown in a favorable light. I don't mind short hairs or briefcases, why should they mind me? This show will prove they can all join together, like a family," he said.

He staged the "Human Be-In" in Golden Gate Park in 1967 as a way for friends to get together and hear music. The term anti-Establishment hadn't been invented yet, he claims but since then, "it got all mixed up."

Among those groups expected are Cleveland Wrecking Company, Wisdom Marionette Theatre, Richard Pryor, Loose Gravel, Congress of Wonders, The Fish, Earthquake, Flamin' Groovies, A Euphonius Wall, Moby Grape, Mother Goose, Keystone, Eric Burdon and War, TKO's, a light show by Holy See, Bob Holte, Windows and Clouds and Earth Lights. One and a half million dollars worth of art including Escher originals will be displayed.

BETTER BUSINESS

By LORENE BEASLEY

Better Business Bureau

"I answered an ad selling a repossessed sewing machine. The next day two men brought the machine, which was almost an antique, to my home.

"I told them I wanted something more up-to-date and they 'just happened' to have a 1970 model for sale in their car. They told me it sold new for $349 but that the owners were getting a divorce and were anxious for a quick sale. I offered $157 for the machine and the salesman said they would take my offer back to the third party who would be obligated to pay an extra $20 to settle the account.

"I paid the salesman $57 and signed a contract to pay the remaining $100 at $33 a month. I saw to it that the recommended retail price of $349 was put into my contract. If the owners of the machine accepted my offer I was to receive a 25 year guarantee within the next week.

"Two weeks passed and I became suspicious when I heard nothing further from the salesman. Checking around I learned that the machine I had just bought actually sold new for $99. When I finally located the salesman he informed me he could sell machines for any price he wanted and that the contract I had signed with him was legal and binding. A lawyer told me I could probably void the contract as the machine had been misrepresented but the court proceedings would cost more than the $100 I still owed. I understand this sort of promotion happens frequently because the salesmen know the costs of court proceedings keeps them in business."

Better Business Bureau comment is that if the woman who wrote the above complaint had "called around" before she signed the contract, obviously she would have saved herself the troubles described.

The sewing machine industry has been plagued for years by deceptive practices mainly because of public ignorance. The major come-on to watch for when shopping for a machine is the one just described, BAIT AND SWITCH, FREE AWARD LETTERS and DISCOUNT CERTIFICATES.

Two types of letters are often used in special offers or awards of "free" sewing machines. In the cabinet scheme, the sewing machine is to be given away "free" with the purchase of a cabinet. Often the cost of the machine and a handsome profit are included in the price of the cabinet. In offerings of this kind, the value of the machine may be overstated by several times.

The other letter requires the purchase of a service and instruction policy to get a "free" machine. Again, the policy can cost much more than the market value of the machine. A recent innovation is requiring the purchase of fabric over an extended period of time, again at an inflated price, to receive a machine.

A "winner" of a discount certificate, usually distributed following a fake contest or drawing, will find the cost of the machine, minus the amount stated on the certificate, is no bargain.

Church Briefs

Concerned Foursome Topic for Sermon

"A concerned Foursome" will be the sermon topic of Pastor A. David Donnelly at the Sunday morning services at the Westside Baptist Church of Pacifica. The Men's Brotherhood of the Church will sponsor a prayer breakfast at 8:30 a.m., Saturday, and the Women's Missionary Society will present a mother-daughter tea at 2:30 p.m., May 16.

THE REV. Bill G. Wilms and Mrs. Beulah Laursen of Our Redeemer's Lutheran Church in South San Francisco are delegates to the 11th annual American Lutheran Church, South Pacific District, convention in Los Angeles.

BEGINNING and intermediate classes in conversation Hebrew and other classes are being planned for the summer at the Brotherhood Way Jewish Community Center.

NEARLY 160 delegates from the Daily City congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses attended the semi-annual circuit assembly at the San Mateo Fairgrounds last weekend.

A largely youthful audience of about 2,708 persons was admonished Sunday to level with God, not rebel, to solve present society's problems.

CANTOR Henry Greenberg has returned to Congregation B'nai Israel, and will officiate at all religious services and oversee the weekly Hebrew school.

S.S.F. Man Found Dead in Suicide

A 25-year-old man committed suicide Monday in the kitchen of his South San Francisco apartment.

Police said a neighbor found the body of Louis Berchmans Branson, 25, 96-A Randolph Street, at 2:20 p.m. Monday. He was the son of Judge and Mrs. J. A. Branson of Hillsborough.

Coroner Paul Jensen said young Branson had attached rubber hoses to the burners of his stove and ran them into a plastic bag. Jensen said he then apparently turned on the gas and tied the bag over his head.

According to authorities a note, which was neither addressed to anyone nor signed, indicated the young man felt he had made many mistakes.

Pacifica Commission Urges Disaster Plan Revitalization

Pacifica's disaster preparedness plan will be revitalized if a recommendation of the Health and Safety Commission is adopted by the city council.

The commission, in a recent study session, agreed to suggest tying in with a training program for key city personnel. The plan was proposed by Don Allen, representing the office of William Hinchcliff, San Mateo County disaster preparedness director.

Allen's jurisdiction now includes the cities of South San Francisco, San Bruno and Menlo Park. The commission asked him to investigate the possibility of including Pacifica for his guidance, if the training program is accepted.

Allen described the program as one administered by University of Southern California instructors and students in administration. After a week of organ-

Frank LaPierre

Post-Times Writer

MOST PEOPLE ARE BORED to tears when columnists start writing about their adventures. However we'll make this brief as possible. Previously it was explained here that a motor trip would be undertaken across the United States and back by yours truly. Actually the miles driven were slightly short of 8,000 and the route took us from Daly City through the south, up the Atlantic coast to the tip of Cape Cod and back via route 80.

THE CONSENSUS among the folks we talked to (and there were many) was that they are sick and tired. These grassroots Americans — left, right and down the middle — were becoming tired of the Vietnam War, because it was not only draining off billions of dollars that could otherwise be used here at home, but also because it was taking away their loved ones. And they were sick of rising taxes that they felt were being misused in many areas, including the war.

Before this starts reading like the "same old story" we hastily interject this was not the utterings of a few radical longhairs. Lord knows we've heard enough from them — on the telly, radio, newspapers and on the streets of the nation. These were plain people, like the waitress and gas station attendant in Dixon, Tennessee.

These folks said they were sick and tired of listening to "those smelly longhairs" who pollute the environment with their dissent — regardless of what the subject may be. After witnessing firsthand part of the Washington, D.C. fiasco of last month we must agree (not that we needed that much prodding to arrive at this conclusion).

ALONG THE TENNESSEE BORDER (Ain't that a song?) folks wave Old Glory high. And they're not afraid to tell you they love America or that they believe in God. Nosiree, once you stray out of Northern California through Arizona, Arkansas, New Mexico, the Panhandle area of Texas, etc., etc., it becomes evident that the Midwest isn't alone in what some call "corny patriotism."

Tune into local radio stations and you'll fast get the message. It usually blasts the sins of the world into a person's ear as seen through the eyes of a local radio preacher. A huge billboard installed alongside a road in Oklahoma proclaims: "God bless Richard Nixon and Spiro Agnew." Not much sense in asking where the townspeople threw their support. But we asked anyway. The answer was startling: "We support the President of the United States. We don't much care what his political party is," the counterwoman at the Town Restaurant in Shawnee let us know.

THEY GREET YOU in Hazen, Arkansas like they mean it. The smiles and tone of voice impress one as genuine, perhaps because they are. They don't compare with the smiles of New York or Chicago where I am convinced people either paint them on or have some sort of facial affliction. City dwellers, east, west, north and south in this vast country, tend to ooze what can only be described as "phonyness."

Poverty is a way of life in some areas we traveled. It was ugly, as it is everywhere. Cottonfields dotted with shacks that have long since fallen down can be seen along any road, including the main highway. There is a saying by the people: If you're good you'll go to Heaven and if you're bad you'll wind up in the cottonfields.

Hell on earth? It certainly looked like it. Where are the poverty programs? Did they run out of funds? Is the shack with the outhouse beyond all the sharecropper and his family will ever get out of life? The answer is a positive "maybe." (That's Political mumbo jumbo.) And no thanks, not a good enough answer.

THE ROUTE LED through the Great Smokey Mountains after an overnight stop at Gatlinburg, Tennessee. The dogwood trees were in full bloom. Flags and patriotic buttons were being sold in every souvenir shop. The people that flock to this resort are in the middleage bracket in the spring and summer. Younger ski enthusiasts in the late fall and winter.

The talk in this friendly mountain resort with its unlimited natural beauty often turns ugly. The people are sick and tired of those that talk and demonstrate in the name of anti-pollution and turn around and cloud the air with their oil burning cars, noisy motorcycles and screams while discarding empty beer cans, bottles, and discarded placards. Most proclaim their love of country and dare you to doubt it. We didn't dare!

WASHINGTON, D.C. has more parks and open space per capita than any city its size in the country. It has monuments, statues, buildings dedicated to a million and one heroes right out of the pages of American history. The buildings are almost continually besieged by demonstrators, the monuments have been attacked by pigeons and slogan writers and the statues are used to practice graffiti. The impact of seeing this for the first time triggers an unexplained anger in many. Public officials entrusted with the care of these priceless treasures express frustration. The city — the cradle of everything America stands for, everything we are trying to accomplish in this democracy — is Mecca for every type of demonstrator, kook and citizen known on earth. Some are sincere. Many are not. The whole thing makes one wonder if they shouldn't have stayed home and read about the city in a kid's coloring book.

Citizens from all ethnic groups in Washington are sick and tired of what's happening to their city. They resent the publicity that is leveled against them daily. "All people ever hear (about D.C.) is that we have a crime rate out of this world. This demonstration or that march is going on. That we have riots."

What city doesn't have riots these days? A black taxi driver said during a crosstown ride amidst the ex-GI demonstrations in mid-April.

The flags fly high in Washington despite those groups that would tear them down, trample on them and toss out the present form of government. Overall, Washingtonians proclaim an intense pride in their city. Like others we found across the nation they still believe the system works.

AND THEY ARE COMMITTED to make it work by staying with the system.

A Big Weekend for the Young

Millbrae's youth were acclaimed in a variety of events last weekend.

The city selected its 1971 Queen, Miss Linda Larson, 17, of 1270 Murchison Drive, Millbrae. She was presented with breakfast in bed Sunday by her brother, Glenn, 9.

The beauty contest was oversold by 400 tickets.

Miss Cindi McGuigan was named first runner-up, Miss Adele Andreini was second runner-up. Miss Debbie Wilson was named Miss Congeniality.

Miss Larson will compete in the Fiesta Dream Girl Contest. It is scheduled for sometime in June.

The Millbrae Queen will receive numerous gifts from local merchants, including a week for two in Hawaii. Runners-up also received many prizes.

Earlier Saturday, the Downtown district was taken over by thousands of young people who viewed and participated in the Twelfth Annual Youth Parade.

The event focuses public attention on the achievements of the community's youth. The parade which lasted an hour and a half included drill teams, high school marching bands, youngsters on decorated bicycles and other entries.

Labels Plague America to the Detriment of Everyone

Self imposed images are the bitterest images of all. They obliterate thought and substitute Pavlovian politics for cerebral response. Independent judgment is replaced by salivary response to the ringing of ideological bells. This kind of exercise is acceptable for laboratory dogs and white rats. But people?

Jonathan Swift in his perceptive satire "Travels By Lemuel Gulliver" saw this foolishness plainly. He wrote of the "Tramecksan" and Slamecksan," two imaginary political parties whose members could be distinguished by the height of the heels of shoes. Swift discloses the silliness of artificial divisions by noting that "the animosities of these two parties run so high that they will neither eat nor drink nor talk with one another."

Modern America suffers from labels. Our two large political parties, being broad and inclusive seldom form the basis of true philosophic battle. But the passion of factions rises with the use of the terms "conservative," "liberal," "moderate" and "radical." These words have meaning and strength, and the traditional parties only go to ideological war when one for a time adopts the confined philosophy represented by one or another of these labels.

There are great advantages in labels. By easily identifying a community of thought, group action becomes simplified. Political effectiveness results from ideological conformity and the passions of the participants are easily aroused in support of accepted wisdom. Further, a disciplined group has another advantage — the less curious among its members doesn't have to waste any time reading or thinking.

But the disadvantages are overwhelming. Loss of independence and individuality cannot be compensated by long term political convenience. True devotees of labels are without doubt less free than men who make up their own minds on important issues. The problems of discipline and punishment of deviants present tempting opportunities to demagogues.

Placing the problem in a personal frame, I find the politics and personalities of Governor Wallace and Congressman Delums repugnant. But what if I become a permanent and undeviating devotee of an organized anti-Wallace or anti-Delums cult. What do I then do if one of them came up with an original program of great merit?

The danger of intellectual conformity was plainly illustrated in the public reaction to the Calley trial. Many conservatives sent telegrams (which I predict they may wish to recapture) commending the Lieutenant. Without waiting to consider the facts, the instant reaction of pre-conditioned minds was to support one of "our boys."

Liberals were also trapped by preconceptions. At that moment in history liberal dogma was that the nation and the army were all bad and that, whatever the verdict, wailing was in order. Two news releases were at the ready: one said "Isn't the nation terrible and the army dreadful, Calley has been found guilty." The other stated: "Isn't the nation terrible and the army dreadful, Calley has been acquitted."

The result was a blurring and temporary derangement of national opinion. True mass judgment will form after reflection and the coming barrage of Calley literature. Only then will an informed nation understand its own feelings about this historical event.

This is but one illustration of the effect of images and labels we all live with. We should remember that philosophical position can serve as a personal comfort and guide, but that blind adherence to any dogma can form a prison of the mind and spirit.

Expand Skyline College Says Outgoing Trustee

Outgoing San Mateo Junior College District Board Trustee, Elio Fontana has urged steps be immediately taken to expand Skyline College "before it's too late."

"Unless a solid building program gets underway soon, Skyline College will never be a top notch campus — it will be just a group of buildings," Fontana said.

While the two other district campuses are growing at a slow rate, Skyline is expected to take a dramatic 35 per cent jump in enrollment this year.

San Mateo College is expected to increase by two per cent and Canada by 10 per cent, Fontana explained.

Most of the anticipated enrollment will come from the North County, according to Fontana.

Unless Skyline College is made into an "adequate junior college" North County students will likely have to attend San Mateo for their particular subjects, Fontana warned.

The trustee, who lost his appointed post in last April's election, said his son must travel to San Mateo instead of Skyline "because they cannot offer him his chosen course at Skyline."

Fontana feared that the college would lose funds needed for the expansion if officials continue to procrastinate on the matter and fail to come up with a solid program for expanding Skyline.

"If we lose these funds—some $1.5 million in federal and state matching money — Skyline will never be effective as a full junior college," he said.

Expansion of the college would not raise taxes because some of the funds are already available and need only be applied for, Fontana said.

What Fontana wants is completed building plans for the next phase of expansion at Skyline by June 1 — the date he leaves his post at the College District.

'How Many Times Do We Pay for Rapid Transit?'

Editor, The Post

How many times must the residents of San Mateo County pay for the so called "Rapid Transit Study"?

When BART was formed, a study was made of the Rapid Transit needs of the Bay Area: about six years ago, the automobile owners of San Mateo were taxed, to have a "Rapid Transit Study" of their county to determine their specific needs and if the county of San Mateo should join BART and if so to what extent, also to recommend alternatives.

We paid for the first study of the Bay Area needs. We paid for the mistakes and the inadequacy of the person(s) responsible for accepting the first study, and then "The In Lieu Tax" was passed against strong opposition by the residents; now the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors again has given the go ahead for a $270,000 Rapid Transit Study" to determine "Whether the county should join BART and if so to what extent."

The Supervisors proposed joining with the new Metropolitan Transportation Commission, in asking for a $180,000 federal grant to finance two thirds of the cost of the survey, leaving us with a $90,000 direct debt.

We've had sufficient studies and surveys, we've had sufficient expenses due to the incompetence of the person(s) accepting previous studies, now we say: enough, no more money for rapid transit studies.

For the Board of Supervisors' information, the San Bruno councilmen favor a BART station in their city either above or below Huntington Ave., and on April 26, Daly City broke ground for the BART station in their city, James Doherty, BART president and James Fitzgerald, chairman of the Board of Supervisors spoke. Now, if the cities of San Mateo County are going ahead with their plans in participating in BART, what is the need for another study?

It seems to me that the Board of Supervisors have a bad memory in keeping track of the Rapid Transit Studies, and for the salaries that they receive, they can very well hold their meetings at night when most of the residents of the county can attend, to see that a repetition of these incompleting and accepted studies does not take place again; at this point, may I suggest that the State Attorney General conduct an investigation of the past studies and person(s) responsible for accepting them be made.

Peace Longing Didn't Start After 1967

By SAMUEL CHANDLER
Daly City Librarian

A youngster, responding to our words of April 21, says he is working for peace, and challenges me to tell him what I was doing for peace when I was 23. All right, young man; I was taking part in the Battle of Britain when I was 23.

With some 11 million other American servicemen I was in a war that was being fought so that you could be born in a system that grants its citizens the right to protest, a system that is — despite what you think of it — a free society where a man can greet his fellow with a merry "Hi Ya" rather than a "Heil Hitler" or a how to Mao Tse-tung.

Too many young people assume that longing for peace originated after 1968. They don't realize that in most countries, ours included, men have always sought peace. Not peace at any price. Not peace at the cost of tearing down your homeland or of forcing your hurriedly conceived ideologies on your own nation or on another one.

Libraries are full of the words of wise men who spent their lifetimes considering the problems involved in obtaining world peace. Surely a young peace worker would be wise to consult the works of such men.

THERE IS A FOLDER in the pamphlet file at the Daly City Public Library entitled "Peace." There-in are found great thoughts on the subject from Albert Einstein, Linus Pauling, St. Paul, Senator Fulbright, Arnold Toynbee and many others.

To the man they seem to agree that peace does not grow out of riots, and bombings, and violent marches anymore than it grows out of wartime battles.

Albert Einstein wrote that there can be no peace until men learn to make use of man's powers of reason in order to settle disputes.

St. Paul advised certain Romans who sought relief from the bloody wars of their empire, "Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good."

Linus Pauling, the Nobel Prize winner, "We must bring law and order into the world as a whole", if we achieve peace. He called for persons to express their feelings in "a spirit of true humanity, the spirit of the brotherhood of man".

IN ONE OF HIS GREATEST MOMENTS he wrote, "I believe there is a greater power in the world than the evil power of military force, of nuclear bombs. There is the power of good, of morality, of humanitarianism." Dr. Pauling has been part of many peace movements, but not of the violent street fights that characterize so many of today's so-called peace marches.

Senator Fulbright, whose posture against the Viet-Nam conflict is well known, said that peace is not achieved because of the inability of men to develop sympathetic understanding of other men of different cultural and political heritage.

Surely, young men who want to work for peace should study the works of such men. To this end the public library is ready to serve.

Sawyer Road Hours Change

An ordinance changing the hours Sawyer Camp Road will be open to the public was enacted Tuesday by the County Board of Supervisors.

Last February the board set the hours at 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. between October 1 and May 31 and 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. the remainder of the year. The action drew considerable criticism that it did not take advantage of the evening hours of daylight in summertime.

The change approved today sets the hours at 7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. from November 1 through April 30, and from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. the remainder of the year.

Sawyer Camp Road, owned by San Francisco, is a scenic, unpaved road rimming Crystal Springs reservoir between Hillsborough and Millbrae and is used mostly by hikers, equestrians, bird watchers and motorists on pleasure drives.

2 JESD Bands Win Honors at CSM Festival

Two Jefferson Elementary School District bands won honors at last week's California Music Educators Association music festival at the College of San Mateo.

The Benjamin Franklin band, directed by Miss Jan Gaynor, won a superior rating. The Colma Intermediate band, directed by Mrs. Mary Ann Heinzen, won an Excellent rating.

Millbrae Boy Bitten

A Millbrae boy who was bitten by a dog Saturday afternoon may have to go through a painful series of rabies prevention shots unless the dog is found.

The parents of Ricky Reid, 31 La Prenda Street, Millbrae, said the youngster was playing with his friends on Sawyer Camp Road when they encountered four teenagers with a baby. The teenagers, two boys and two girls, had two dogs that resembled Doberman Pinschers, cinnamon in color with black trim.

One of the dogs bit the Reid boy on the palm of the hand.

The boy's parents emphasized they were not interested in any legal action — they just want the dog tested for rabies. They said if the animal's owners would write to them at their Millbrae address, no questions would be asked.

The youngster said the teenagers were driving a white Toyota landcruiser but he failed to take the license number.

Brisbane Summer Class Set

The Brisbane School District will hold a summer school program June 28-July 30.

A flexible schedule has been arranged to allow for field trips, education films, and new instructional methods.

Emphasis will be given to individualizing the instructional program, geared to meet the needs and interests of each child enrolled for the summer session, according to a district spokesman.

Summer school registration should be completed and returned by May 7.

Classes for students now in grades one through seven in the district will be from 8 a.m. to 12:10 p.m., daily.

The curriculum will concentrate on reading, mathematics, English and science.

Serra High School Selects New Coach

Joe Callaghan, 25, a graduate of Sacred Heart High School and San Francisco State College, Thursday was named head basketball coach at Serra High School, San Mateo.

Callaghan will replace another Sacred Heart alumnus, Frank Nolan, at the Peninsula parochial school.

According to Serra Athletic Director Ken Houle, "We feel we have a real fine coach here. He comes to us highly recommended and he has impressive credentials."

Callaghan, a small college All American at forward for San Francisco State in 1968, played for three years at St. Mary's College, Moraga, before he transferred to San Francisco State. He had a brief tryout with the San Francisco Warriors of the NBA after graduation.

He coached at the light-weight-junior varsity level for the past two years at Sacred Heart, compiling an overall mark of 31-14.

Houle said Callaghan will teach social studies at Serra in addition to handling the varsity basketball job. He will begin his work at Serra in September.

WHS Golfers Still Unbeaten

Westmoor Ramlinksters crushed the Terra Nova Tigers on Monday May 3 at Sharp Park Golf Course.

Kelly O'Neil shot a sizzling 4 under par 68 making a 20 foot birdie putt on the last hole. Ray Pellegrini and Dave Lonich came in with even par 72's.

The Rams are undefeated.

Pool Dedication

South San Francisco's new municipal swimming pool at Orange Memorial Park, Orange Avenue and Tennis Drive, will be formally dedicated at 2 p.m. Sunday.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Sahara Tahoe Hotel Summer Season May 14

The High Sierra Theater of the Sahara Tahoe Hotel officially opens its summer season of superstars May 14 when Dinah Shore, with special guest star Nipsey Russell, will headline. This will be Dinah's first night club date since the debut of her successful morning TV show; Nipsey is back for his third engagement of this season. Bill Medley winds up a successful debut in the 300-seat Juniper Lounge. Jackie Gayle opens May 17. Frankie Fanelli, the Society of Seven and Perri Lee continue to entertain nightly. In the Pine Cone Lounge: Londoner Rich Bono keeps the nightly pace through June 6. . . . Ray Plunkett has recently been named Executive Vice President of the famous Cal-Neva Lodge at North Lake Tahoe. Plunkett started at the Crystal Bay Club as a janitor 23 years ago. He rose steadily, and when the club was purchased last May by the Ohio Real Estate Investment Company, he had been manager of the club for the past ten years. When the new owners took charge, they transferred Ray to the Cal-Neva Lodge, where he was named Executive Vice President.

HOST TO A BEAUTY — Dick Lawton of Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco toasts pretty, blonde movie star Cheri Caffaro, who plays the title role in "Ginger," with a Royal Nail cocktail in the elegant Wellington Room. The popular new cocktail is made with smooth, imported Suntory Royal whisky over ice, with just a dash of Drambuie.

Chuck's Steak House Star Off For Hollywood Bit

Art Lassiter, talented guitarist and singer who is a regular performer at Chuck's Steak House, has been missing from the scene for the past few days. He's been in Hollywood taking part in a Smothers Brothers picture, described as a satire. The film is due to be released in early September. Art and his "rhythm section" should be back at the San Mateo restaurant this weekend. Tis rumored: An added Wednesday and Thursday attraction this week will be a trio of musical ladies known as Rita, Anita and Marilyn. . . . Leaders of the business and political life may be seen dining in the elegant Oreste's restaurant, San Francisco, surrounded by the rich decor of fine Italian oil paintings and racks of wine bottles. If you're planning a party of any type, make reservations now for a memorable occasion. . . . Torres Beach Restaurant, located in Montara just south of Devil's Slide on Coast Highway One, is owned and operated by that indefatigable team of Frank and Fannie Torres, who specialize in South American Dishes. Try one of these delicacies some evening — you won't be disappointed.

New Garden Coffee Shop Menu

The special hot sandwich menu at the new Garden Coffee Shop in the Hilton Inn at San Francisco International Airport provides a tempting selection of hearty favorites such as Beef 'n' Cheddar Sandwich on giant French roll and the always popular Monte Cristo — baked sugar-cured ham and breast of turkey with cheese, dipped in egg batter and French fried. . . . The entertainment line-up has changed at the Hillsdale Inn, San Mateo. The Ambassadors, a trio of talented musicians with a "big band" sound, entertain on Friday and Saturday nights only. . . . Bruno Fava, chef-owner of Bruno's in downtown San Mateo, also books most of the banquets for his Italian restaurant. His group prices are so low and business so good, that future banquets must be booked well in advance. There is available parking behind the restaurant. . . . Last week the CYO Golf Tournament was played at the Peninsula Country Club. The tournament drew over 80 entries, including restaurateur Frank Fabbro, who was one of the organizers. The proceeds from the event go toward charity, a much-needed CYO boys camp.

Exclusive Dishes At Doros

Many diners at Doros in San Francisco start dinner with prosciutto and melon and for their entree Chicken Saute with Risotto Milanese, a dish exclusive at Doros. . . . Lou Ercoli, co-owner of South City's Leaning Tower, has a great football career planned for his young son. The toddler is due for a birthday soon, and Lou has already lined up a helmet and a cake shaped like a football. When last seen, Lou was busy wiring party invitations to most of the scouts in the NFL. . . . Raffles, located across from San Francisco's Merchandise Mart, is a wonderful place to host a dinner party. 80 members of Chinatown's Lion's Club held a dinner party here one recent evening. Although the restaurant is closed for regular business on weekends, owners Florence and Jim Nowlen do accept private gatherings. . . . The Greek Taverna in North Beach continues to offer the ethnic music of the Trio Orfeo and some of the world's sexiest belly dancers. This spot is never a dull one, as disc jockey Don Sherwood will verify.

Johnny Mann Production "Stand Up And Cheer"

Johnny Mann has taken everything that is positive in America and put it to music in his production of "Stand Up And Cheer," currently appearing in the 750-seat Circus Room at John Ascuaga's Nugget, through May 19. His music ranges from theme music from the tribal Broadway show "Hari," to George M. Cohan favorites. Their style is youth, and their ability is pure professionalism. Each show features the antics of Bertha and Tina, the amazing performing elephants, and the big band sounds of Sam Donahue and his orchestra. . . . Great Britain's handsome Engelbert Humperdinck is receiving thunderous applause in the South Shore Room at Harrah's Tahoe with his big voice. The engagement of this romantic singing star continues through May 19. Also on the program: Comedian Jack Wakefield, musical conductor Laurie Holloway, and the Brian Farnon Orchestra. . . . Bobbie Gentry, who sings, dances, and is a composer and lyricist, will open in the Headliner Room at Harrah's Reno Thursday night for a three-week engagement. Miss Gentry, described as "about as backwoods as Bergdorf's," wrote and sang "Ode to Billy Joe," which led to three Grammy Awards that year. Featured in her Harrah's Reno show are The Plymouth Rock, "The Local Gentry" dancers, and comedian-guitarist Glenn Ash.

Talent Scouts Invade Band Stand

The Sound Barrier, a great musical aggregation currently appearing at the new Band Stand, Redwood City, has attracted talent seekers from all over the West Coast. Several L.A. club owners dropped in to discuss plans for the future with the talented musicians. However, it's safe to say they will be at The Band Stand for an indefinite engagement. . . . You can always be sure of getting the best Mexican revue at the Sinaloa Cantina, one of the few remaining legitimate night club restaurant combinations in North Beach. Under the management of Bill Vroman, the Sinaloa has become a grand spot for good food and good entertainment. . . . Enticements vary at DeeJay's in Belmont, a niterie where live music and dancing can be found seven nights a week. Currently showcased Wednesdays through Sundays is a group called Pleasant Company; Evolution performs on Mondays and Tuesdays. No cover, no minimum.

Entertainment At Russo's

Still drawing raves at Russo's in San Bruno on Friday and Saturday nights is the Cisco and Boston Mason Show. You can count on these two talented musicians and vocalists to draw big audiences and hold them the complete evening. Construction work at Russo's is near completion, so expect to soon see the debut of The Distillery. . . . Two fine Country-western bands are currently marquee at The Studio. The Commacheros entertain on Wednesday and Thursday nights at this Belmont bistro, while The Branded Men provide the dance sounds on weekends. The music begins nightly at 9 p.m. . . . A new band opened at The Putter, Burlingame Plaza. Called the Black Velvet Band, the group is composed of Bay Area musicians who perform nightly, Tuesdays through Saturdays, at this pop spot known for its friendly attitude. . . . Singer Ernie English, known on the continent of Europe as a "crowd pleaser," will present a concert at San Jose City College in the men's gym on Friday, May 14, at 8 p.m. The concert will include a variety of musical numbers, country western, rock, folk, soul and spirituals.

Mexican And American Dishes

A fine new Mexican restaurant has joined your Bright Lighter's roster of excellent dining spots. It's Celia's Number Two, a twin to the original Celia's in San Francisco. Both Mexican and American dishes are listed on the menu, with lunches and dinners served daily except Sunday, when dinner is served from 4 p.m. . . . Superb cuisine is served in a sophisticated atmosphere at the Iron Horse restaurant, located in San Francisco's world famous Maiden Lane. Owner Sam Marconi goes to great lengths to give each patron the best in luxurious comfort and decor. This is a crowded spot during the cocktail hour, and a great meeting rendezvous. Dinners are served every day except Sunday. See the "coupon ad" on Bright Lights page in The Times — it's a "2 for the price of 1" money saver featured from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Casserole Blends Flounder, Beans

Home economists of the National Marine Fisheries Service devote considerable time to creating and testing fishery recipes for both popular and underutilized species. One enterprising home economist, developing recipes using flounder at Pascagoula, Miss., tried a very unlikely combination and found it uncommonly good!

She perfected the recipe. Flounder Surprise Bean Bake, a casserole dish combining tender, delicately flavored flounder fillets with hearty baked beans.

To make it easier for the homemaker the fillets are simply covered with canned baked beans added to sauteed onion and green pepper, canned tomatoes, a zesty combination of dry mustard, curry powder and molasses, and topped with bacon slices to keep the surface moist. Bake 20 to 25 minutes, just long enough for the fillets to flake easily, and the casserole is ready to enjoy.

A helpful, 56-page booklet, Let's Cook Fish (I 49.49-2.8), Fishery Market Development Series No. 8, gives detailed information on basic fish cookery. For your copy of this full-color, illustrated booklet, send 60 cents to the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

FLounder SURPRISE BEAN BAKE

2 pounds flounder or sole fillets, fresh or frozen
4 slices bacon
1 small onion, minced
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1 can (1 pound) baked beans
1 can (10 ounces) tomatoes, drained
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon curry powder
2 tablespoons molasses
2 teaspoons salt

Thaw frozen flounder fillets. Divide into serving size portions and place in a well-greased baking dish. Sprinkle with salt. Dice one slice of bacon and saute until all fat is removed. Add onion and green pepper and saute until vegetables are tender. Add baked beans, tomatoes, mustard, molasses, and curry powder to sauteed vegetables.

Pour bean mixture over fish fillets. Top with 3 slices of bacon. Bake in a 305 degree F., oven until flounder flakes easily when tested with a fork, approximately 20 to 25 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Eggs Lead Plentiful Food List

For a spring breakfast or light supper idea serve Eggs a la Queen.

Eggs are being spotlighted by the United States Department of Agriculture as a plentiful food-to-feature.

EGGS A LA QUEEN

3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 cup grated cheddar cheese
1 3-oz. can mushrooms, drained
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon diced pimiento
½ cup chopped toasted walnuts
6 hard cooked eggs
Toast

Melt butter and blend in flour and salt. Add milk; cook and stir until mixture boils and is thickened. Add mustard and cheese; stir over low heat until cheese is melted. Blend in mushrooms, parsley, pimiento and walnuts. Slice eggs and add to sauce. Serve hot over crisp toast. Makes 4 servings.

BAKED BROCCOLI AND EGGS

1½ cups cooked broccoli, chopped
4 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
1 3-oz. package cream cheese
¾ cup milk
¾ teaspoon salt
1-3 cup dry breadcrumbs
2 tablespoons melted butter

Place broccoli in a 1-quart casserole; top with sliced eggs. Blend cream cheese with milk; stirring constantly over low heat until smooth and thick. Add salt. Pour sauce over broccoli and eggs. Mix breadcrumbs with butter and sprinkle over broccoli. Bake in 350 degree oven about 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

QUICK EGG SAUCE

1 10½-oz. can condensed cream of celery soup
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
2 tablespoons green pepper, chopped
¼ cup milk
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper

Combine all ingredients; heat to simmering. Serve over cooked asparagus, broccoli, carrots, green beans, cauliflower or leeks. Makes 2 cups.

Strawberry Time Inspires Desserts

To get high quality strawberries, U.S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service says to look for berries with a full red color and a bright luster. The berries should also be firm, dry and clean.

Do not wash them before putting in the refrigerator. Leave caps on the strawberries. Sort them carefully and place loosely in shallow containers so the weight of the berries on top does not crush those on the bottom.

Whether you serve them plain with cream, in the facies salad or gourmet dessert, fresh strawberries will add spark to any meal. For a change try these two simple strawberry desserts.

SCANDINAVIAN FRUIT PUDDING

1 quart fresh strawberries
2 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ cup water
Light cream
Toasted slivered almonds, optional

Remove hulls from berries; wash and drain. Puree berries in electric blender or press through a fine sieve. Mix sugar and cornstarch. Place berries in saucepan and stir in sugar mixture and water. Bring mixture to a boil, stirring constantly. Lower heat and simmer about 3 minutes until mixture thickens; cool. Pour into individual dessert dishes. Chill at least 2 hours. Serve with light cream and almonds. Makes 6 servings.

For other combinations try equal parts of strawberries and raspberries or rhubarb. If rhubarb is used increase the sugar to one-half cup.

FRESH STRAWBERRY MOLD

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
¾ cup hot water
¼ teaspoon salt

½ cup sugar
¼ cup fresh lemon juice
1 quart fresh strawberries
Whipped sour or sweet cream

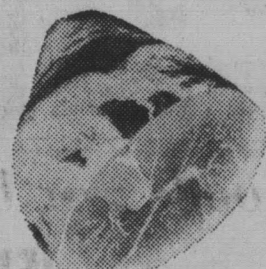

Soften gelatin in cold water. Stir in hot water, salt, sugar and fresh lemon juice. Mix well and cool. Wash, cap, and put half strawberries through a sieve. Stir in a few drops of red food coloring if a deeper color is desired. Stir in remaining berries and gelatin mixture. Pour into a 5-cup mold. Chill until firm and ready to serve. Unmold on serving plate. Serve with whipped cream.

PAT DONOHUE, Daly City, engages her "lawyer," Ron Wells, Colma, in animated conversation as her "daughter," Jan Downing, Daly City, looks on. All three are members of the Skyline College production of "Harvey," to be presented in the Studio Theatre May 21, 22, 28 and 29, starting at 8 p.m.

Michael Hall—Jeannette Ferrari

Miss Ferrari's Troth Revealed

The engagement of Jeannette Ferrari of San Francisco to Michael John Hall of Daly City has been announced by Miss Ferrari's father, A. M. Ferrari.

Miss Ferrari is the daughter of the late Mrs. Theresa Ferrari and the sister of Ernestine (Mrs. John) Zuffo. She attended City College of San Francisco and is now employed by Chevron Chemical Company.

Michael Hall is the son of Mrs. Robert Jones of Clear Lake Highlands and the brother of Judy Estrada of Daly City. A former Air Force Sergeant, he is a student at Skyline College and plans to major in psychology at San Francisco State.

A January wedding is planned.

Mrs. Charles P. Godfrey is escorted down the stairway of the Thunderbolt Hotel in Millbrae by William H. Garrett as she rehearses for the fashion show portion of this evening's banquet presented by the San Mateo County Restaurant-Hotel Owners Association. Paul Speegle will be the master of ceremonies for the "Night of Splendor" and will introduce the eight "Genies" who have been selling chances on themselves during the week to help swell the Apprentice Fund which the Association sponsors.

THE POST'S Family Forum North County's Mother of Year

Mrs. G. M. Ray of Daly City is the Post-Westlake Shopping Center's "North County Mother of the Year." Her daughter, 12-year-old Teresa, wrote the winning letter, which was selected from over 1000 entries.

"She's both mother and father, cause dad passed away," Teresa wrote. "She doesn't go to parties and clubs, but gives her time and things to me. The best things she gives is love, kindness and understanding. She does things too, like camping (yeah). Wouldn't you like to have my mom?"

Mrs. Ray was ill with the flu this week and unable to claim her first award of $250 worth of merchandise orders from the Westlake center.

Billy McGuire of Colma wrote the second-place letter for his mother, who won a $50 merchandise certificate from the center.

Eugene Crescenti of South San Francisco won third place of a $25 merchandise order for his letter.

Engvall P-TA Installation

Engvall P-TA's new officers will be installed in San Bruno on May 18.

They are Mrs. Joseph Busch, president; Mrs. D. A. Dimes, first vice president; Mrs. B. J. Jester, second vice-president; Willard R. Engvall, honorary vice-president; Robert Hesselgren, honorary vice-president; Mrs. Hugh Parsons, recording secretary; Mrs. Leon Howser, treasurer; Mrs. George Haney, auditor; Mrs. Basil Peponis, historian.

TRYOUTS for pompon girls, cheerleaders and male yell leaders for the College of San Mateo will be held Saturday.

A RUMMAGE sale will be held by the Daly City unit of the American Legion Auxiliary from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday at the Legion Hall, 474 San Diego Avenue.

The sale will benefit the child welfare and hospital rehabilitation programs, according to Margaret Kenney, secretary.

A DINNER will honor Mrs. Joseph Novello, outgoing president of St. John's High School Ursuline Guild, at Caesar's restaurant at 7:30 p.m., May 18. Mrs. Louis Masino may be contacted for reservations.

A SPRING PICNIC will be held at 1 p.m., May 23, by the Brotherhood Way Jewish Center at the Belmont Jewish Community Center.

Anniversary for Busy Proctors

Mr. and Mrs. William Proctor of Broadmoor Village recently celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary at a surprise party held by their children, Kathy, Grady, Danny and Pamela.

Over 40 members of their family and friends attended. Their children presented the couple with a trip to Hawaii.

This is going to be a busy year for the Proctor family. Son Grady, a member of the National Guard and a student at San Francisco State College, Hamilton has been reappointed Danny is graduating in June from Westmoor High School and Pamela will be a junior at Westmoor in the fall.

Proctor came back from his honeymoon, 25 years ago to work for the Borden's Dairy, now Knudsen's where he is still employed, and he and Jean moved into their home in Broadmoor 23 years ago.

REAPPOINTED

San Bruno Mayor Maurice Hamilton has been reappointed to Mary Patteson of Broadmoor Village, and daughter Clerk Carl Hultberg administered the oath of office to the mayor at Monday night's council meeting.

LIFELINE, Mills Memorial Hospital's artificial kidney unit, opened in 1968 with one bed. Now there are three beds and soon there will be six beds. Since opening, 16 patients have been given a second chance for life.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS ABOUT THE ARTIFICIAL KIDNEY PROGRAM

Q. What is the Mills' Artificial Kidney Unit?

A. The only place in San Mateo County where you can receive ongoing help if you have kidney failure.

Q. Who is helped?

A. Anyone may be a candidate for the artificial kidney program—medical criteria is the primary determinant of who is acceptable for the program.

Q. What kind of help does a person get?

A. The patient receives treatments which clean the blood. These treatments last six to eight hours and have to be taken three times a week to keep a person alive. Each hospital treatment costs about $200.

Pad Sets Mark; Loses

Serra High School track man Tom Banducci suffered one of the ultimate pains in sports last week — to set a record and still lose.

Banducci was Serra's weight man in that day's triangular meet with visiting St. Ignatius and Mitty.

His best shot put before the season began had been 52-3. Yesterday he got off a school-record 55-2 heave — only to be beaten by two feet and a half inch.

The Padres lost to power St. Ignatius 89-47, but wallowed hapless Mitty 99-33.

But the Pads did pull in some firsts. Jack Wandro took the 880 with a 2:00.6 clocking and Bill Monte won the high hurdles in 15.6. Monte also won the low hurdles in 20.8.

John Flaherty took the long jump, the 100 and second in the 220. Mike Kennedy squeezed out a win in the triple jump at 42-7½.

Three Teams Left in NPL Title Race

Where once stood eight, only three remain as the daily North Peninsula League baseball schedule is eliminating a team a day now.

Half Moon Bay retained its mathematical shot at the conference title by eliminating Jefferson's Indians Monday, 1-0, in the league's only action. South San Francisco can clinch a tie for the title with a victory today over Terra Nova's still-in-contention Tigers.

Right-hander Frankie Reyes struggled all the way but managed a three-hit shutout over the Indians. He allowed seven walks and a hit batter and constantly had to pitch out of serious jams. The Indians couldn't get the base hit when needed and stranded 11 runners.

Broom Hockey Begins in DC

The Daly City Recreation Division has begun the Tuesday afternoon Broom Hockey League. It is held at the War Memorial Community Center Gymnasium from 3:30 to 5 p.m. The program is open to all boys and girls seven years of age and older. No fee is involved, however students are asked to take their own brooms. Registration is taken every Tuesday afternoon by recreation leader and broom hockey instruction, Mark Devincenzi.

Indian left-hander Smoky Morton deserved a better fate. He whiffed seven and walked just one and the only run was unearned. Two infield errors in the first inning allowed HMB's Dave Lea to score the contest's lone tally.
